Dysart council ponders need for rec. director

Dysart et al council is giving some serious thought to the possibility of hiring a recreation director for the municipality. But before it makes a decision, council wants some help from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation.

In a resolution passed Monday, council called on the clerk to ask the ministry to assess the need for a director and to report its findings at a joint meeting of council and the recreation committee.

Reeve Murray Fearrey said following the meeting that council does not intend to make a hasty decision on the matter. The ministry review is expected to show whether or not the municipality has a large enough population to warrant hiring a recreation director, and whether or not the position should be full time.

Pauline McGibbon will preside at museum opening

Ontario's Lieutenant Governor has agreed to participate in the official opening of the new Haliburton Highlands Pioneer Museum.

In a letter to Dysart council, the office of Pauline McGibbon said she would be pleased to take part in the ceremonies, scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, June 29.

The museum building, located on Bayshore Acres road in Glebe Park, was completed last year, and temporary displays of artifacts were set up. Permanent displays will be completed before the official opening.

The museum complex also consists of the renovated Reid House, which housed the museum before the new building was undertaken.

Dysart to pave seven miles of municipal roads

At least seven miles of road in Dysart et al will be improved this year with the application of prime, or prime and surface treatment.

Areas to benefit from this year's paving program include the hamlet of Harcourt, which will see approximately 3/4 of a mile of its streets improved.

Hard surfaces will also be placed on the Haliburton dump road, for a mile on the Harburn Road, one mile on Haliburton Lake, two miles on the Kennis Lake area, and one mile on the Green Lake Road.

Other areas will be given consideration when council meets to set its 1980 budget this Friday, May 16.

Total cost of the work is $66,000.

The newly approved Wild Water Reserve on the Gull River below Horseshoe Lake was a busy place Sunday as kayakers from many parts of Ontario converged on the site for club competition.

County council expected to use it as a discussion base

Dysart sets proposed policy on 66' shoreline allowance closure

In the wake of a Ministry of Natural Resources policy statement with respect to the closing of original shoreline road allowances, Dysart et al council has drafted a proposed set of guidelines for dealing with closure applications.

The Dysart proposal, which will be brought before county council later this month, touches on a number of key issues involved in the closure and sale of the 66 foot wide strips that lie between the high water and private property on many county lakes.

The Dysart proposal could form the basis of a county wide policy to be set before any applications for closure can be considered.

In addition, clarification of the Ministry of Housing's position with respect to shoreline road closures is expected to be sought before a county policy is established.

First point in the Dysart proposal is that the original shoreline road allowances "be deemed to the abutting landowners at the municipality's discretion, by by-law."

The by-law is to be confirmed by county council "provided the allowance deemed is perpendicular to the lot line and not an extension of the lot lines."

This point is considered a critical one because in the case of "pie shaped" lots, extending lot lines could reduce or eliminate shoreline access for adjacent property owners.

Second point in the Dysart proposal is that the closure of a section of the allowance must not block "suitable and sufficient access to a lake or an adjoining property owner's access."

Third point calls for a uniform fee structure throughout the county to be used by the municipalities "unless there are tradeoffs or different circumstances affecting the individual cases."

If circumstances do differ, they are to be explained to county council, who will approve the by-law "if deemed reasonable."

The fee suggested by Dysart is $250 for each lot up to 150 feet of frontage and $1 per foot beyond the 150 feet for each owner. Legal, survey and advertising costs, which could average close to $1000 for each applicant, must also be paid by the applicant.

Under the Dysart proposal, the county would receive the $250 (and additional $1 per foot beyond 150 feet) if the shoreline being closed abuts a county road. "Otherwise, the funds are to accrue to the township."

Fourth point in the Dysart proposal is that money from the sale of the allowances should not be used for anything other than road right-of-ways that must be purchased. Any interest on unused funds "can also be used for road work or park purposes at the liberty and discretion of council," the Dysart proposal suggests.

Fifth point in the proposal is that "where the municipality does not have title to the existing roads at the rear of the lot requesting closure and sale, a quit claim deed will be required from the owner in question prior to the aforesaid closure."

Council took the position that the five-point resolution was for discussion purposes at the county level, rather than a policy which should be adopted without amendment.

"It's somewhere to start," reeve Murray Fearrey commented. "We've got to start somewhere."

Since last month, Dysart council has received ten letters from cottagers enquiring about the possibility of purchasing the allowances.

Solicitor for Stanhope outlines complexities

Cottagers' request for closure of road hits snag

Stanhope Township ratepayers who lost a recent court case stemming from an attempt to block the road allowance in front of their cottage have been told the allowance cannot be stopped until a county wide policy on shoreline allowance closures is established.

Hubert, Patricia and David Moss learned last Wednesday that it could take up to two years for the allowance in front of their Maple Lake cottage to be closed, even if there are no objections from adjacent property owners.

Problems surrounding the road allowance in front of the Moss cottage came to light last month when Victoria County Court judge Lloyd Woods ruled the allowance is a public highway and that abutting property owners Leon Dragon and Olgierd Cichowski "have the right to make whatever use this highway is capable of affording them."

The decision came after Dragon and Cichowski complained the Moss family had erected a barricade on the road allowance to restrain the two from driving their vehicles across it.

Judge Woods ruled the complaint was justified, ordered the Moss family to pay the plaintiffs' costs, and granted an injunction to restrain the Moss's from blocking the allowance.

But in an attempt to take the matter a step further, the Moss's came to Stanhope council with a road closing by-law they hoped council would agree to pass.

Reading from a letter he had addressed to council, David Moss called for the passing of a by-law "prohibiting vehicular traffic on the 66 foot road allowance on Maple Lake unless otherwise used and occupied by a township regulated and maintained road."

Moss urged approval of the by-law in view of what he termed "the difficult situation the continued misuse of the road allowance in front of our cottage has caused."

In support of the request, Moss cited a conversation with a John Morton of the Ministry of Natural Resources, in which Morton is said to have outlined the ministry's policy of not objecting to shoreline road allowance closures if they do not interfere with MNR projects.

According to Moss, "Morton further commented that 'if there exists adequate access to the property other than the use of the road allowance, the council should discard any protest or objection to the applied for closure.'"

Moss's appeal was rejected, however, because any effort to pass the by-law would have contravened the Municipal Act.

Speaking on behalf of the municipality, lawyer Jim Cruickshank explained that road closure by-laws must meet numerous criteria set down in the Municipal Act, Chapter 284, Section 399 and forward. They must be posted and advertised, and a hearing must be held to allow objectors to voice their complaints. If the by-law is then passed by the municipality and by county council, it is submitted to the Ministry of Housing for approval and circulation to other government agencies. The process could take two years, Cruickshank said.

Closure of shoreline allowances will present particular problems, the lawyer said, including the possibility of denying water access to abutting landowners where two "pie shaped" lots intersect with a third.

Cruickshank stressed that the Ministry of Natural Resources policy on the closures had special relevance to unorganized townships, but that in areas like Haliburton County, the provisions of the Municipal Act took precedence.

Despite Moss's claim that the Ministry of Housing would look favourably on shoreline allowance closures, Cruickshank said clarification of the ministry's position had not yet been forthcoming.

If and when the MOH makes its views known, county council should draft a policy governing closure applications to ensure that they are dealt with uniformly, Cruickshank said.

"You are premature Mr. Moss," Stanhope's lawyer said. "I'm not saying you're going to be turned down, but you are premature."

Although they didn't quite strike it rich, the Haliburton brownie pack #2 had fun panning for gold last Monday. Andria Cowan tried her luck but came up empty.

Stanhope acid rain committee displeased with officials' vote

Stanhope's acid rain committee has registered strong displeasure over the township reeve and deputy reeve's support for a county council resolution on liming area lakes.

The resolution, passed at the April meeting of county council, noted that the county is prepared to begin a liming program, and called on the Ministry of the Environment to supply information about what lakes need liming and the amount that should be put in them.

Only Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey and deputy reeve Harold Bannon registered 'nay' votes against the resolution at the time it was passed.

At a meeting last Wednesday, day, acid rain committee members Alex Stephenson and councillor Harry Davis criticized the Stanhope officials' stand on the resolution.

Stephenson said councils "shouldn't talk too loosely about acid rain," noting that it is a complex subject.

Councils asked to help MNR with development policy

Local municipalities are being asked to co-operate with the Minden and Bancroft district offices of the Ministry of Natural Resources on a land use development strategy.

According to Graham Wales, of the Minden office, the project is in its first stages and the MNR does not have anything to offer the public as yet.

Municipalities in the county have been advised that the development plan will be undertaken and MNR is hoping councils and the district offices can work together according to a letter received by Dysart et al.

Dysart may seek removal order for boat house

Dysart et al council will seek a court order for the removal of a boat house on Little Kennis Lake unless the owner can come up with a proposal for moving it which satisfies council.

The boat house, owned by Fred Chaley, was built on the 66 foot shoreline road allowance in contravention of the municipality's zoning by-law. When work on the structure began, council placed a stop work order on it. But the owner, on the advice of his lawyer, continued on with the project, and fought council's

Road closure bid hits legal snags

Despite Moss's claim that the injunction against blocking the allowance had made it impossible for his family to enjoy their cottage, and that the court decision opened the door for anyone to make use of the allowance, Cruickshank told Moss he is "no better and no worse off than any other cottage owner."

While the injunction means Dragon and Cichowski can continue to use the allowance to gain access to their property, as they have since 1965, it may not negate the fact that the Moss's have use and control of the allowance as set down in the Municipal Act.

J.C. Victor, lawyer for Dragon and Cichowski termed "completely hypothetical" Moss's claim that the court decision might lead to abuse of the allowance.

"He (Moss) is on no different position than he was 20 years ago," Victor said (The Moss's purchased their Maple Lake cottage in 1960). "The decision says Moss cannot obstruct Dragon and Cichowski from using that allowance. It doesn't say Dragon and Cichowski own it."

Victor also gave warning that any attempt to stop up the allowance would probably be blocked by Dragon and Cichowski.

"You might as well know that the road may be a little more rocky than you contemplated," Victor said. "You might very well be met with obstacles at each of the stopping points" in the closure procedure.

In the end, council gave formal recognition of Moss's application for closure of the allowance, and promised that it would be given priority once a county-wide policy is set.

Rowdies

"Every man is working on the long weekend so that means that men you've hired have worked all day, come out here until about two or three in the morning and have to be at work at 8 a.m. again," he explained.

Council was rather apprehensive about sending letters to the assumed troublemakers as they were not exactly sure who was involved in the altercation.

Buchanan said he would be getting a list of the instigators from the investigating officer and would be contacting council in the near future.

The weather this week

The following weather information, supplied by the area climatologist, is valid for the period of May 5 - 12.

Highest temperature recorded over the week was 27 C., while the lowest was -1 C. May 10. Rainfall totalled 14.6 mm.

Temperatures are presently averaging 5 C. below normal for this time of year. Cool weather is expected to continue throughout the week, with a warming trend predicted for the holiday weekend.

Work crews from Lamco Construction have been busy installing new storm sewers beneath Haliburton's main street in preparation for resurfacing of the connecting link.

Municipalities to co-operate with MNR

"The information collected in these studies will be used to develop a strategy which will outline where the Ministry wishes to carry out its programs in the future," according to the letter.

It says the strategy will include policy statements concerning crown lands and information on how MNR hopes to influence the use of private lands involved in recreation, fisheries, wildlife, mineral and timber projects.

Wales explained that the strategy will be used for the management of natural resources when the project is finished.

According to the letter, MNR staff will be "involved in a collection of background information and in an identification of problems and issues." The Ministry is requesting the support of the councils and explained that if the bodies worked together a successful development strategy of natural resources would result.

The municipalities will be given a chance for input into the strategy when the results of the studies are presented to councils later this year.

The MNR stressed the studies "can provide (municipalities) with a co-ordinated view of where this Ministry wishes to pursue the management of natural resource in the future. Such a consolidation of Ministry direction should prove beneficial to (councils') physical, economic and social planning programs."

Galway / Cavendish set budget

At the most recent meeting of Galway/Cavendish council, the following matters were discussed:

General voucher #4 of $111,634.56 was approved for payment, as was, road voucher #4, in the amount of $16,175.31 and welfare voucher #2 for the month of April in the amount of $12.50.

Council decided it is not supportive of B-86-79, Lot 17, Concession 5, Cavendish, as the severance indicates that it is for a "technical severance." However, the dimensions of the proposed severance do not conform with the existing deeds for the said properties.

Severance B-61-80 was referred to councillor MacLellan for review and submission of her recommendations at the next regular meeting.

The 1980 budget totalling $851,150, was adopted covering expenditures as follows:

Acid rain vote

Councillor Harry Davis agreed, saying he felt council's representatives Jim Harrison and Elgin Stouffer voted for something they didn't understand.

Stouffer said he voted for the motion because it was "a way to get action" from the Ministry of the Environment. Harrison agreed, saying councils had an obligation to look ahead.

But Stephenson felt the resolution was ill considered. "You don't throw a brick through a window to open it," he said.

Davis rebuffed Stouffer and Harrison for ignoring the acid rain committee. "Before you make a statement like that or vote for something you should consult with the committee for its recommendations," he said, adding that county council "should listen to people who have PhD's and know a lot more about it."

General Government - $79,912; Protection to Persons and Property - $31,062; Transportation Services - $343,442; Environmental Services - $7,912; Social and Family Services - $5,150; Parks and Recreation - $11,342; Planning and Development - $13,007; Boards (School and County) - $359,323. The 1980 budget represents an increase over the 1979 levy of 9.1% for residential and 13.1% for commercial.

The resolution from the Town of Dunville was tabled. This resolution pertains to a proposal that the federal and provincial governments be requested to establish a special reserve fund and adopt a uniform policy or criteria to administer and disperse such funds when disaster strikes.

A grant was made to the Port Hope Disaster Relief Fund in the amount of $50.

The Field-Springer Disaster Relief Fund committee request for assistance was tabled.

A by-law to amend By-law 78-43 was received and read a first time and second time.

This by-law will permit ratepayers who have built a cottage within the 66' road allowance or those who are sitting just on the 66' to build a sundeck within the road allowance, as long as they are no closer than 20 feet to the high water mark and that the deck is attached to the cottage and extends no further out than 12 feet.

A by-law to adopt the estimates of all sums required during the year and to strike the rates of taxation for the year 1980 was passed.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign an application to Ministry of Natural Resources covering a Licence of Occupation for the tract of land that will be occupied by the "Gold Lake Bridge", Concession 3, part Lot 28, Cavendish.

The clerk was authorized to increase the municipality's insurance coverage to include Errors and Omissions at an annual premium of $435. This coverage provides for a $1,000 deductible per claim.

The municipality will not participate in the Ontario Home Renewal program for the fiscal year 1980.

Minutes of the Fire Committee meeting of April 15, 1980 were accepted as presented.

Minutes of the Galway Cavendish Culture and Recreation Committee meeting of April 15, 1980 were adopted.

ed as presented. The roads committee meeting minutes of April 25, 1980 were approved as presented.

Council approved of the Galway Cavendish Culture and Recreation Committee's plans to hold "Festival 80" at the Kinmount Fair grounds on Saturday, August 9, 1980, consisting of the following major activities: auction sale, helicopter rides, pony rides, lottery tickets, bake sale table, snack bar, dance, bar facilities.

Resort owner asked to 'bear with' council

The owner of Silver Beach campground has been asked to "bear with" Dysart et al council until it can develop a swimming area on Lake Kashagawigamog that will take the pressure of public use of the campground's beach.

Owners Merv and Barbara Reeve attended council Monday to discuss problems with rowdiness and abuse that lead the Reeves to post signs declaring the beach off limits to the public. They presented council with a copy of the deed indicating that a portion of the beach is privately owned.

"To our knowledge, we own quite a bit of Silver Beach, Reeve told council, "Where we put our sign is on our property."

Reeve said the beach is being abused by people who light fires, drink beer and litter the area with broken glass. Cars parking along the narrow road also present a danger to pedestrians and other drivers, he said.

Council's concern was that the beach had been used by the public for many years, and that denying access to all but Silver Beach campground patrons would be unfair to responsible residents of the municipality.

"If it is your intent to allow reasonable citizens to swim there, we won't argue with you," reeve Murray Fearrey said.

He said council intended to develop a public swimming area several hundred yards down the road from Silver Beach, in the area where the "Slipper" formerly stood, and asked the Reeves to bear with the municipality until the work can be completed.

Theft of boat under investigation

An investigation continues into the theft of a boat and motor from Raven Lake landing, south of Dorset.

Police say the 4.6 m. aluminum boat and 25 h.p. Johnson motor valued at $2400 were stolen sometime between May 4 and May 7.

The vessel, owned by Christopher Orbell of Niagara Falls, Ontario, had been moored about 100 feet off shore with a padlock and chain. The chain was cut and the vessel was removed from the area by trailer.

'Sense of belonging' essential for retarded: deputy minister

Improving the quality of life for Ontario's mentally retarded citizens through increased funding of community centred programs is a major goal of the Ministry of Community and Social Services, a leading civil servant told local citizens last Friday night.

Addressing a joint meeting of the Haliburton County Social Planning Council and the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded, deputy minister Robert Carmen said the province will spend $75 million on community programs for the mentally retarded this year. The amount represents an increase of 27 percent over last year, he said.

While the ministry continues to emphasize "deinstitutionalization" for the mentally retarded, merely closing facilities "may not achieve a great deal" unless the retarded are given an opportunity to take their place in the community Carmen said.

Locally, ARC industries and the residence on Mountain Street in Haliburton are working to provide retarded adults with the "sense of belonging" which the deputy minister stressed is an essential outgrowth of the move to close down institutions.

Along with funding for community programs, the Ministry is also concentrating on a prevention program, Carmen said. "Our goal is to reduce the incidence and severity of developmental handicaps through knowledge."

To aid the parents of mentally handicapped children, the ministry now funds behaviour management and infant stimulation programs, as well as specialized day care centres to provide parent relief. As well, "individual program plans" for children living at home will be emphasized over the next two years, Carmen said.

"Individual program plans are as important, or more important, in the community as they are in institutions," he told the meeting. "We tend to underestimate what parents can do if they have a little bit of help and guidance."

The deputy minister's speech also touched on progress toward the creation of area wide children's services committees.

A question and answer period, in which local citizens had a chance to air their concerns with respect to ministry programs, concluded the evening, which was held at the Rial's End Station Gallery.

Carmen was presented with a bird feeder made by local ARC industries workers in appreciation for his talk.

County students win 15 firsts at festival

Haliburton County elementary and secondary students came up with 15 firsts at the annual North Hastings music festival in Bancroft last week.

Haliburton Highlands Secondary School student Russ O'Brien gave excellent performances to achieve three firsts for his clarinet solos. Cathy Mosgrove also received first prize for her trumpet solo and the woodwind trio including O'Brien, Heather Kennedy and Miriam Venderwal also received top marks. In the Oboe solo, Eric O'Brien was awarded first prize and Kennedy and Venderwal teamed up for a first in the flute duet.

Also winning first place were the junior band and the stage band. The senior band placed second along with Mosgrove and Craig Saunders achieving second prize for their trumpet duet. Representing Archie Stouffer Public School at the festival, the woodwind quintet of Tara Davies, Robbie McLeod, Wendy Ballantyne, Lisa Dunsford and Lori Dunham won first as well as being awarded the highest mark of the day last Wednesday.

The Grade 8 ensemble took first place while the stage band was awarded second. Tom Closs and Doug Schell placed first in the trumpet duet and Closs took first and Schell second in the trumpet solos. The school walked away with the clarinet solos as Dunham won first, Davies second and Ballantyne third. Colin Newell received a first for his tuba solo, Scott Yake and Greg Pearson won second for their baritone and saxophone solos respectively. In the woodwind duet category Carol Anderson and Janelle Robinson won third prize and Robinson also received a third for her flute solo.

Ken Goodall, gave the newly planted trees at Head Lake Park in Haliburton a thorough watering last Monday afternoon. Plans now stand that "phase one" of the park complex should be completed this year.

Stanhope signs contract with parachutists

If you see a parachute or two or three drifting down over Stanhope Airport any day this summer, it probably won't mean that passengers of some light plane have bailed out because of engine trouble. More likely, the parachutists will be members of the Toronto Parachute School, which last Wednesday signed an agreement with Stanhope council for use of the airport.

The school will operate seven days a week throughout the summer months, and will teach sport parachuting to beginners and advanced students.

Only restriction, (aside from those required by other levels of government), which council has placed on the operation is that planes carrying the parachutists aloft must not begin flying before 9 a.m.

Joint meeting of federal, provincial assoc. held

NDP chose 1980 executive

A joint meeting of the federal and provincial riding association of the New Democratic Party for Victoria-Haliburton was held in Lindsay recently.

Federal association president, Allan McPhail, addressed the meeting regarding the 1980 federal election and indicated that the party had obtained 21.5% of the vote, almost a 7% increase over the preceding election. He also indicated that this result exceeded the national average and in fact exceeded the expectations of the Election Planning Committee for the riding.

McPhail, presented the financial report and advised that election expenses, including time paid by local unions or campaign workers exceeded $15,000, that all bills had been paid, and that after the rebate is received and outstanding loans paid the federal party would be in a position to have a significant war chest for the next election.

McPhail, then called for the election of officers for the Federal Executive of Victoria-Haliburton Federal New Democratic Party Riding Executive. Chosen were: past president: Allan McPhail, 157 Cameron St. W., Cannington; president: A. E. (Ted) Starr, R.R. #1, Little Britain; first vice-president: Art Field, R.R. #1, Little Britain; secretary: Ralph Hart, 86 Durham St. W., Lindsay; E.D.A. (Treasurer): Joan Davis, 67 Queen Street, (Box 36), Cannington; members at large: (Georgina Township), Jack Allan, 262

On behalf of the Provincial

Riding Association, president Allan McPhail advised that the debts for the 1975 campaign have finally been paid and that the Riding Association was once again in the black.

McPhail then called for the election of officers.

A further election then took place for Provincial Council Delegates as well as Provincial Convention Delegates. Results were as follows: president: Art Field, R.R. #1, Little Britain; first vice-presi-

Dysart to seek removal order

A Supreme Court of Ontario ruling upheld the municipal by-law. But council must go back to the courts for a removal order, and is attempting to reach a compromise with Chaley to avoid further legal costs.

At a council meeting Monday, reeve Murray Fearrey told Chaley that the matter had been dragging on for close to two years, and that council had to take a final stand on it.

Chaley said he could probably move the boathouse back five to eight feet from its present location, but that to move it back further would require extensive blasting.

Council, made it clear, however, that five to eight feet was not satisfactory. It would prefer that the structure be located entirely off the 66 foot allowance, as the zoning by-law requires. Chaley was given until council's June meeting to come up with a proposal for moving the structure. If he does not, a court order will be sought to have the boat house removed.

Youths charged after breakins

Two 16-year old youths, one from Shelburne and the other from Richmond Hill, have been charged with break, enter and theft in connection with a break in at a cottage owned by Ian Matthews of Toronto. The cottage was entered by forcing a door, causing $20 damage, and liquor valued at $25 was stolen.

Minden OPP constable Bob Wood followed a motorcycle track in the area and apprehended the two.

Dynamite stolen from Snowdon

Minden OPP are investigating the theft of tools, a chainsaw and 65 sticks of dynamite from the Snowdon Township road shed.

The shed was entered by forcing a door sometime May 5-6. The stolen property was valued at $600.

OPP investigate theft of panels

Investigation continues into the theft of two smoked glass roof panels for a car in Haliburton Village early Sunday morning.

Police say the panels, on a vehicle owned by a James Hicks, were valued at $800. No further details were available.

Seeing the good among the bad

From a national and international perspective, 1980 is shaping up to be a gloomy year. The madness of terrorism continues unabated, and the outrage of hostage takings shows no sign of losing its popularity as a means of extorting money or freedom for political prisoners or even media coverage for a cause. Nationally, Canada is fighting for its very life, although perhaps typical of Canadian complacency, the significance of the referendum in Quebec is being downplayed in many quarters.

While no one should ignore the events of the larger world, neither should they let the positive things around them go by unnoticed. At the risk of seeming parochial, there are many reasons to view the first four months of 1980 as a year of improvement in Haliburton County.

In Minden, a business improvement area is moving toward reality. If it comes to fruition, its impact on the village's economy and appearance could be substantial. New businesses are about to spring up on the by-pass, contributing not only to the local economy but fostering a health atmosphere of competition among local merchants and service outlets. The Gull River below Horseshoe dam has been turned into a mecca for white water canoeists and kayakers, a turn of events which should help to put Minden and the rest of Haliburton County on the map across North America.

In Haliburton, improvements are pending or completed for several businesses. Head Lake Park is proceeding on schedule. Sidewalks will be rebuilt this summer, and roads in and out of the village are soon to be repaved. Larger quarters for the museum will officially open in June. A new location for the Bank of Montreal opened this week, and two new businesses are either under construction or about to be built in the village.

Compared to the major events that are shaping the nation and the world, these changes seem small improvements indeed. But they are nonetheless contributing to the growth and improvement of Haliburton County.

And in a world where positive happenings are not always easy to find, changes which make the community a more pleasant place to work, shop and live should not go unnoticed.

Patience that should be rewarded

Municipalities throughout Haliburton County are beginning to feel the pressure of a swelling tide of applications from cottagers for the closure of shoreline road allowances. Isolated requests to purchase portions of the allowances have trickled into councils in the past, but nothing like the present stream of enquiries and requests has been seen before.

Before the stream becomes a flood however, those who own property on area lakes should recognize that no quick action on the part of local councils is possible. Before any closure of shoreline allowances can be considered, Haliburton County council must establish a policy for dealing with them. In addition, the Ministry of Housing will have to make it clear that it is prepared to accept such closures. So far, local councils have not been able to determine the ministry's stand.

Even if there are no objections from the province, and even if county council can hammer out a policy within a month or two, it will be many months, perhaps even years, before the first shoreline allowance is closed up and conveyed to an area cottager.

In the meantime, cottagers should be patient. Pressuring local councils will not speed up the process, and might delay action on more pressing matters.

An epistle to the people

The Haliburton County Echo welcomes letters to the editor. All letters must be signed, and include the writer's address and telephone number. Letters are subject to editing for clarity, grammar, and to conform with legal requirements.

Only under exceptional circumstances will letters be published without a signature, and only when the writer has identified himself to the editor and given valid reason why his name should not appear.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Mr. Reid's class is very grateful to you, for your surprising story that you so nicely wrote about our special Ed. class. It's nice to have someone like you who will take notice of us.

It was really a great thing you did for us. It will help people understand that this class isn't such a bad place to be! Our teacher is very happy with your story too. We're going to laminate it and hang in our classroom. You remembered every little detail about our class and that makes us feel really good. We all hope you will come back and visit us when you can because we really enjoyed your company and your interest in us all.

Danny Hayes, Bill Curtis, Larry Anderson, Ted Reid, Ron Goulet, Gordon O'Reilly, Denise Gibson, David Hulbig, Tammy Alton, Doug Volney, Peggieanne Bouman, Jill Gilligan, Nicky George, Jack Prentice, Sean Allore

To the Editor:

We are writing to let you know how much we enjoy reading your weekly Echo. It is such a pleasant change from the daily newspapers we read in Toronto. We especially enjoy the District news page even though we don't know the people mentioned in the different columns. We have to mention one column in particular and that is "Chatting with Irene"; she makes us feel as though we are having a visit with her. Keep up the good work.

Ronna Stanley and Sarah Carter,
Two avid Echo readers from Scarborough

To the Editor:

Several letters that appeared recently in your paper dealing with acid-rain and remedial programs, require some clarification.

Mr. R.L. Stevenson and others, are quite correct in stating that "Liming" is a stop-gap measure and not a cure for the problems engendered by acid-rain. However, the assumption that liming is therefore not essential or that the Swedish liming program is dictated by political pressures only is completely false. I believe that these correspondents should obtain copies of the definitive Swedish scientific program authored by Berghoff and they will revise their views very quickly. What is forgotten in the dismissal of liming as an intermediate step in the total program, is the ecological "snow-ball" syndrome. A dying or dead lake, according to Nordhoff, affects all the other life systems dependant on the lake very adversely. Both flora and fauna can be either partially destroyed or seriously decimated. Berghoff notes that studies purport to show that incidental high levels of aluminum salts may cause

EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

by Len Pizze

Most people would probably be prepared to admit that technology is proliferating and advancing faster than their ability to understand it. But in the normal run of things, it's not a matter of great concern. You may not understand how the computer in the local bank knows how much money you have in your account, but as long as the numbers come up the way you think they should, you probably don't give the machine even a passing thought. Yet dangers lurk just behind the veil of confidence we put in electronic wizardry, and they don't just centre on the possibility of a power failure. The fact was driven home to all of us who work at the Echo last Tuesday in a way that we hope won't be repeated for a long time to come.

We rely on computers to set our type in the column sizes that appear in the paper. A second computer based machine is used for typing out headlines in various sizes and styles. Although it looks much like a large typewriter in a cabinet, remove any one of its panels and you are confronted with a maze of wires and wheels and micro circuits. It's workings are as impenetrable as a Zen 'koan'.

Most of the time, it functions flawlessly, whirring and beeping and flashing implacably throughout long Tuesdays of production. But last Tuesday it suddenly refused to cooperate. Instead of beeping it whistled, and instead of nice neat headlines we got blank paper out of its cassette. We keep an instruction book handy for just such emergencies, but try as we might, we could not get it to work. Telephone calls to the company that manufactures it brought a sympathetic ear, but it could not be coaxed back to life.

With churning stomachs, and fighting off mild panic, we put a call in to Jack Brezina, owner of the Minden Times. "Could we," we asked sheepishly, "use your headliner to finish the paper?"

Jack quickly agreed, and we trundled off to Minden, with a stack of uncompleted pages under our arms. Once set up in the Times production area, we had to fathom the quirks of a different kind of typesetting machine. It used unfamiliar type style, meaning all the headlines we had sweated to come up with before we went to Minden had to be rewritten.

By one a.m. Wednesday morning it was done, 17 hours after the work day had begun.

That day, instruction book in hand, we put the headliner machine back into working order. It took just five minutes.

It's funny how the sound of a computer can sometimes be music to your ears.

The Victoria Day holiday weekend is coming up and for many this will be the first time that many of our visitors and cottage owners have been back since last summer. We like to think that this is the start of the summer season, when everyone will be getting prepared for the busy summer season ahead and that more and more people here in the Highlands of Haliburton will be employed. We certainly look forward to seeing many of our old friends on this weekend and let's hope that the weather will be sunny so that the visitors can enjoy the weekend and get out and do that work around the cottage that they have been waiting all winter to get at. Many old and new businesses will be opening this holiday weekend and most of them are looking for a good summer ahead. Many people I am sure, are wondering just what lies ahead for them this summer. Can they expect to have a busy season? Or will it be a poor summer as far as business is concerned? A great deal will depend on just what the weatherman has in store for us as this always has a bearing on the travelling public. As far as I am personally concerned I am very optimistic. I still think people have money even with inflation and high interest rates and so on and should be coming back our way in larger numbers than usual. The Highlands of Haliburton is beautiful country and if we can get a break from the weatherman, then we are away. Let's not think of the slogan "We Treat You Royally" as just a few fancy words, let's put it into practice.

It may be quiet in other centres in Ontario, but not so in the Village of Haliburton. If you were to drive into the village for the first time you would think that this is really a boom town. There is no doubt about it, things at the present time are on the move here. One thing that is really helping out the cause is the re-construction of the highways leading into town and a great deal of activity is now underway as the construction crew prepares to lift up the old mulch on the roads in preparation for a new paving job on certain roads in the village, new sidewalks for the business section and other streets complete with a complete curb and gutter program. What a difference this is going to make when this project is completed. A few new houses are being erected, many additions are being made to present houses. We understand that John Beachli is building a mammoth apartment building on the site near the Haliburton Hayloft on Maple Avenue. This work is already underway. Excavating started last week for a new restaurant which will be located on the site that formerly housed the old Echo building on the main street. The new Bank of Montreal building is just about completed. Look for many more changes to be made here in the future. Someone was overheard to remark one day last week that they are tearing Haliburton up piece by piece and putting it back together again.

There are some people in Haliburton who seem to be upset because the public washrooms next to the post office are closed and have been for sometime. One of the reasons for the permanent closing has been vandalism. This is very unfortunate, but it seems to be a way of life. Now they are talking of building much needed new washrooms at Rotary Beach to service both the beach area and the new park. We can say to ourselves, well here we go again, new washrooms and change rooms and are they going to be forced to be closed once again due to vandalism. Let's hope not but if precautions are not taken we will be up against the same old problems. The only answer at the new park will be the hiring of an attendant who will, along with other duties, be on guard from time to time to see that this public property is kept free of vandalism.

Dave Gardiner will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship in Canada (Haliburton Highland Chapter) hold their monthly dinner meeting and fellowship at the Canadian Legion Hall at Haliburton this coming Friday evening, May 16th at 7:00 p.m. Dave is an Aircraft Maintenance Engineer and also a former commercial pilot. He has experienced the hand of the Lord on many occasions, ranging from deliverance in difficult flying conditions, to help in trouble shooting stubborn aircraft problems. He is active in his church associations and with the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowships.

Some business people who operate year round here in Haliburton County have shown some concern in the fact that some people are allowed to come in and open up a business for two or three months in the summer. It's the opinion of some people that a business that is open the year round giving twelve months' service should get a tax break while those who just open up when the sun shines should have to pay a stiff business tax. This might help to straighten out the matter. It all boils down to the fact that the person who just opens up a summer business couldn't care less about the local citizens who live here twelve months out of the year.

The Rotary Club of Haliburton's Easter Seal Campaign is drawing to a close. Donations now received are totalling well over $1400. and this means that it won't take too much more to reach the objective of $1600. With your help we can go over the objective. If you haven't already sent in your contribution, please do so today. The crippled children are depending on you to come through for them.

The Molou Theatre at Haliburton is receiving a face lifting on the front of the building and the interior is also being re-painted.

At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton, the guest speaker was Al Oakley, teacher at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. Al gave a very interesting talk on the Big Brother organization in Haliburton County. We hope that everyone will give this newly formed organization all the support that they can possibly give to it. In my opinion, this is a very worthy cause and if you are interested in becoming a big brother, please get in touch with Al.

Pic of the Past

Most of you will recognize these two Haliburton gentlemen, Andy Curry on the left and Frank McIntyre on the right. They are shown in this photo a few years back at the North Lake Hunt Club. Andy is now a resident at Extensicare, Haliburton, and Frank is still living at his home in Haliburton. Both of these men were ardent hunters but ill health has forced them both to give up their favourite sport. Our thanks to Curry Bishop of Haliburton for submitting this photo.

Report from Parliament

by MP Bill Scott

As the Quebec referendum campaign moves closer to its conclusion the main focus of attack by both sides seems to be the Canadian Constitution.

If we accept only a fraction of the rhetoric that has been thrown around by Ryan and Levesque, we are left with the impression that there is nothing right about our Constitution, nothing worth trying to save.

Right now, before the vote takes place on May 20, it is time for all of us to peer through the smoke screens that have been thrown up by both sides in the campaign and recognize the real truth of our situation.

In the first place, there is little to choose from between Claude Ryan's "No" program and Rene Levesque's "Yes" option.

Levesque proposes what he calls Sovereignty Association, although he has difficulty explaining exactly what he means, even to himself. All we really know about sovereignty association is that it rejects both the Canadian Confederation and the Canadian Constitution.

Claude Ryan talks about a "renewed federalism" with a new Constitution. It's not much of a choice. As far as English Canada is concerned, we are not even in the race. It is like being given a choice of which leg you would rather have them cut off - the right or the left.

Levesque began his campaign with charges of "slow genocide of the French people in Canada by the English majority", and "colonialist spoliation of Quebec."

That, of course, is utter nonsense. Canada's Constitutional Monarchy is one of the most de-centralized systems of government in the world. The degree of autonomy enjoyed by our provincial governments is unique. Quebec, for instance, is master in its own house in such areas as education, administration of justice in its own province, exploitation of its resources, and the right to borrow money whenever and wherever it chooses. It has its own police force, and exercises considerable latitude in foreign affairs.

Quebec has been allowed to legislate in the area of language use in its province, in contravention of the British North America Act. Quebec gets the lion's share of all federal monies spent on social

I'm glad I'm not a farmer. I'm glad I'm not a number of things; a bar-tender, a doctor, a goal-keeper, a fighter, chairman of the treasury board, among many others. But I'm particularly glad I'm not a farmer.

A bar-tender must cope with a low class of people, forever trying to tell him their sordid secrets.

A doctor must handle some of the lowest parts of the human anatomy: piles, bowels, ingrown toenails, seed warts on the sole.

A fighter, professional or merely domestic, must constantly be on guard against low blows, physical or vocal.

The chairman of the treasury board is faced with trying to sell savings bonds at a low interest rate when everyone else - banks, trust companies and jumped-up usurers of every color are offering the moon in interest.

But the farmer is faced with the worst low of all - low income, low prices, and the low opinion of the vast majority of lowly-informed people in the land.

A number of things has recently brought this to my attention, though I've known it, peripherally, for years.

Last Saturday, the old lady and I gazed, with the fascination of a rabbit facing a rattlesnake, at a tiny prime rib roast of beef in the meat counter.

We turned simultaneously to each other and as I was blurtin, "What the hell..." she was saying, "It's been two years." We bought the little beauty, we slavered as it roasted, and we attacked it when cooked like a couple of Eskimos who have been living on boiled moccasins for two months, and have finally killed a seal.

Lying groaning after the orgy, I began to think. The roast wasn't much thicker than one of the steaks you tossed on the barbecue ten years ago. It weighed 2.35 pounds. It cost seven dollars.

With whipped turnips, roast potatoes and onions, a little garlic rubbed in, and a salad, it was something you wouldn't be ashamed to serve Queen Elizabeth.

Then why was it such a big deal? Because we, like so many shortsighted, spoiled Canadians, have been shying away from the beef prices in the supermarket for a couple of years, without really thinking about it, muttering, not really blaming the beef farmers, but feeling bad done by.

A bottle of whiskey of any decent brand, costs eight dollars plus, the price of three pounds of prime rib roast. Which would you prefer? Which takes more tender loving care? Which returns a decent profit to the producer?

In West Germany, people are paying seven dollars a pound for beef. If this happened in Canada, there'd be lynching parties running through the country-side, looking for beef producers.

Same day we bought the beef, I picked up a five-pound bag of P.E.I. potatoes for 49 cents. Ten cents a pound. I'll bet you'd pay more for manure, if you wanted to green your lawn.

A pound of bread, shot through machines, is about seventy cents. A pound of butter, likewise, is up around $1.45. A pound of eggs costs about forty cents. A quart of milk is ninety percent water and costs around seventy cents.

A lousy lettuce, imported from California, costs a buck. Same for a bunch of asparagus. A pack of cigarettes costs more.

Six imported tomatoes, shipped from New Mexico green as bullets, and less tasty than mashed toe-jam, will run you nearly a dollar.

There's something crazy about our way of life, our prices, our values.

We pay $1.25, and will eventually be paying $4.00, to run a rusty piece of metal from here to there. There are about six middle-men: the Arabs, the shipping company, two or three governments, the trucking companies, the eventual dealer.

And we shudder as we walk past the meat counter and see that beef, choice, is $3.38 a pound.

Would you rather have two gallons of gas or a pound of beef? Would you rather have a quart of rye or two and a half pounds of beef? Would you rather have a pack of fags or ten pounds of potatoes?

Perhaps I'm not making my point. Eggs and butter and cheese are right up there in price, but the farmer who supplies the milk is working for peanuts.

However, these products have some kind of control. After all, Eugene Whelan dumped sixty zillion rotten eggs on us a few years ago, and Canada can't give away its huge supplies of powdered milk.

But a lot of our farmers are being royally shafted: especially dairy.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

As most Ontarians are well aware, the Legislature held a unique five-day debate last week, on the subject of Canadian Confederation.

As both a member of the Legislature and a strong supporter of Confederation, I was extremely proud and gratified by the sentiments expressed by members on both sides of the House, and by the general tone of the debate.

In fact, the Legislature's debate gave many M.P.P.'s a welcome opportunity to deliver highly personal, and often eloquent messages to the people of Ontario and Canada as a whole. (And, for the first time ever, the entire proceedings were broadcast throughout the province through the Ontario Educational Television Network.) A wide variety of subject areas were discussed - historical, economic, multicultural, etc. - but the overall message was basically the same. That is, we must stay together, because we share both a common heritage and a tremendous potential together.

Here are some excerpts from a number of members' addresses:

"Quebec and Ontario have had 200 years of political cooperation and personal friendships. There have been serious misunderstandings and injustices on both sides, but never a lack of goodwill and good intentions among the people and their leaders." Robert Nixon, L - Brant-Oxford-Norfolk.

"As Canadians, we are allowed to share in a richness that can't be measured in dollars and cents. I am speaking of our cultures, our languages, our unique view of the world. These have been nourished by our history and guaranteed by our national will and our economic strength as a nation. Break us apart and we all lose." Frank

Miller, treasurer of Ontario.

"I think that on the northern half of this continent we can build a country that is both singular and truly great. I think that in some ways, in many ways, we can be an example to the rest of the world. I hope that one day other people in the world can look at Canada and say, 'Yes, yes it is possible. Oui, c'est possible.'" Michael Davison, NDP - Hamilton Centre.

"It would seem to me that those who look at our country from a distance, who find the country with the tremendous agricultural basis we have, the tremendous base of natural resources, the enormously skilled force, the access to markets... would find the current debate in a country so rich in all of these things rather shocking and startling." Larry Grossman, Minister of Industry and Tourism.

"This Legislature has made a decision to let our choice in this matter be known to Quebec and to the rest of Canada. Let us hope that future historians who look back on our actions will be able to say that we acted not badly, but well; not meanly, but generously. That we acted not in the interests of one, but in the interest of us all." John Eakins, L - Victoria-Haliburton.

In all, more than 70 members spoke in the debate.

The question, of course, remains as to what effect, if any, our efforts had or will have on the final result in the Referendum on May 20. Naturally, we all hope that our words have not fallen on deaf ears, that those who might be considering a "yes" vote have not made up their minds completely.

loss of fertility in bird stocks living on the lake. In effect, a dead lake may mean a dying total ecosystem.

Secondly, although there are at the moment only a few lakes and river systems at real risk in the county, the M.O.E. records show that there are indeed some. It is not suggested by any serious investigator that liming be carried out except under the aegis of the M.O.E. and Dr. T. Brydges, the project leader, but having stressed that point, Dr. Brydges is anxious that all interested parties including the township councils, work closely with his group so that the program will have total involvement with the local populace. After all it will be local physical involvement that will make the program viable.

Finally, if the Haliburton County Council is serious in backing a scientifically and economically sound program they will find that the M.O.E. will welcome their help with open arms. Indeed there is no other way in which they can proceed given the complexity of the full program and the necessity for provincial and federal funding.

Because of the long time delay between any effective diminution of acid causing effluent and because of the increasing rate of water systems acidification, the necessity of an immediate start to the setting up of a controlled scientific approach to lake liming where all groups are involved, is of critical importance at this time.

We, in concert with Dr. Brydges of the M.O.E., will provide any technical data that any group might find of interest and we will attempt to form a liaison committee so that any interested group can inform themselves of all the details of the M.O.E. program. On the other hand, we will maintain our position as an unprejudiced force for the solving of some of the immediate problems associated with acid-rain.

We are willing to address any group on this subject and we will supply where possible, copies of the Swedish research program publication where available to any serious requests.

Sincerely,
H. Michael Collins, M.A.,

Minden team wins basketball tourney

In the annual Minden-Haliburton basketball tournament last Friday at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School, Minden girls defeated their rivals 17-11. The winning team was presented with a trophy at the end of the afternoon's games.

Muscles were straining and all team members were in top form as Haliburton and Minden clashed in their yearly tournament. Although the action seems a little rough both teams played a good game.

Minden curling club calls for tender

Members from the Minden Curling Club voted last Wednesday night to call for tenders for the construction of a new curling club.

Club president Jim Garbutt said tenders will be called within the next couple of weeks. He added that the building committee would have to go back to the membership with the exact costs before construction begins. The project is expected to cost approximately $320,000 with Wintario contributing $190,000.

The action was fast and the competition keen in the annual Minden-Haliburton boys basketball game last Friday afternoon. The Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School gymnasium was filled to near capacity for the exciting event. Both Minden teams came out on top as they out-manuevered the home team to take home both of the trophies.

The boys team from Minden also won their game with a 22-14 victory.

Six records set

HHSS takes meet

For the eighth year in a row, Haliburton Highlands Secondary School's contingent racked up enough points to take the title in the Kawartha West track and field meet in Lindsay.

Haliburton students were entered in every event and garnered a total of 935 points. The I.E. Weldon team tallied 606 points, followed by Fenelon Falls with 573 and Lindsay with 533.

Three boys' and three girls' records were set at the meet. Exchange student Helene Hellquist outclassed the field in the Sr. girls 1500 metres with a time of 5:40.1. Carol Lee registered a toss of 28.24 metres to set a record in the Sr. girls discus, and Eileen Henderson completed the open girls 400 metre hurdles in a record pace of 1:23.8.

In the junior boys division, Tony Scheffee completed the 400 metre hurdles in 1:07.0. Mike Hatkoski took the pole vault by clearing the bar at 3.10 metres, and Butch Manary tossed the discus a record 38.16 metres.

Marla MacNaull and Helene Hellquist each came up with four firsts in the day's events, while Mike Hatkoski notched three firsts.

MNR announces special moose hunt

Special moose hunts to control hunting pressure on the existing herds will be held this fall south of Highway 11 between Kapuskasing and Hearst and east of the Chapleau River between Chapleau and Elsas, Natural Resources Minister James Auld has announced.

Auld said these controlled hunts will take place in wildlife management units 23 and 31 in the province's northern region during the regular 1980 season.

"The Ministry's decision to conduct controlled hunts in the northern region this year was based largely on the success of the Opasatika Lake Management Unit (WMU 23) hunt held last fall," the Minister said.

He said hunter co-operation during the Opasatika hunt was excellent, with fewer enforcement and other general problems in the unit than in 1978.

"The success of that controlled hunt in regulating the harvest indicates this technique can be applied elsewhere when our long-range policies and plans require it," Auld said.

Along with the Opasatika Lake hunt, a second hunt in the Horwood Lake Management Unit (WMU 31) was added to the 1980 program because that area's moose population has declined rapidly in recent years.

Hunters apply for MNR hunts

The 1980 moose season is scheduled for October 18 to November 15, and October 18 to October 31, for areas 23 and 31 respectively.

Those wishing to participate in these special hunts must apply to the Ministry of Natural Resources offices in Kapuskasing (for Unit 23) and Chapleau (for Unit 31) by May 30, 1980 and must provide proof of previous hunting experience. They will then become eligible for a draw which will limit the number of hunters in both units.

The Unit 23 controlled hunt will be limited to 1,200 resident hunters - 250 more than last year, while the controlled hunt in Unit 31 will limit moose hunters to 1,100 residents.

If more than those numbers apply, the Ministry will hold draws at noon on June 14 in the Kapuskasing and Chapleau district offices.

In addition, a limited number of special stamps will be allocated to the resident and non-resident hunters who are clients of tourist outfitters operating in these areas.

Auld said Ontario residents who were unsuccessful in the Opatatika hunt last year will be given priority in that hunt if they apply again this fall.

The Minister explained the increase in resident hunters over last year is being allowed because of a change in regulations announced April 1. Under these regulations, hunters must hunt in parties of two or three persons and are allowed only one moose per two persons.

"This means hunters will have to apply in parties of two or three persons," Auld said. Applicants selected by the draw for both hunts will receive a special stamp to affix to their regular moose licence.

Those attending moose management meetings in Kapuskasing after the 1979 controlled hunt ranked controlled hunting their second choice, after shorter seasons, as the preferred means of rehabilitating the moose population.

The Minister said that limiting the number of moose hunters cannot be achieved merely by excluding non-resident hunters or hunters from other parts of the province. "Hunters are important to the tourist trade and tourism is part of the foundation of northern Ontario's economy, so this industry must not suffer because of any changes in management techniques," Auld added.

"The dirty dozen from Frankfurt" came up with quite a catch in Drag Lake last weekend. The group had been staying at Haliburton Lodge while on their successful fishing trip. They caught 52 lake trout (by the time the picture was taken they had eaten 15) on their four-day fishing trip. Carman Mikel caught the largest fish weighing in at five pounds. Pictured with their catch

Haliburton minor hockey executives acclaimed to second term in office

Haliburton minor hockey association elected its executive at the annual meeting in Haliburton last Wednesday night and many of this year's officers are the same as last year's.

At the meeting a slate of officers who had volunteered to help out was presented to the members present and nominations were opened. The group agreed with the choice of officers and they were elected by acclamation.

Heading up the executive again this year will be president Sid Cooper, Lois Whitaker will be acting as secretary treasurer, Terry Barum, tri-county contact person, Len Salvatori, OMHA contact person, Grant Rae fund raising, Roy Scott tournaments, Claude Parish, referee-in-chief and Doug Mitchell will look after hockey development.

The big news for this year is the possibility that a juvenile team may be formed in the village this coming hockey season.

Sid Cooper said Monday that if the number of boys is substantial enough, a team will be formed.

This year will also see a week of hockey skills being taught to the prospective players although it will be held a little later in the fall than last year.

Also on the agenda is a coach's clinic which will be open to all coaches in the fall.

The association is also hoping to raise a little money to overcome some debts so some rather unique draws are being held throughout the summer.

Witching is old magic spread amongst few

by Sue Cooper

There seems to be no rhyme or reason to it. It is a case of "you either got it or you ain't." And Jack Francis of Ingoldsby has got it.

Francis has been witching for water for many years and it is a tried and true method.

"I've witched quite a few wells around here...but I'm not interested in doing it any longer," Francis explained that he was not in the market for a full-time job of witching.

Witching is definitely not a universal skill. Not everyone who picks up a crocheted stick can find water. The talent seems to be spread thinly amongst a lucky few.

chain, Francis starts walking gingerly across the lawn again. This time when he starts to near the water vein the watch starts whirling around on the chain and when it is over the vein it stop and then starts swinging back and forth in the direction of the movement of the water underneath the earth.

Although no one will probably know if they have the talent until they try, one looks extremely silly walking across a yard with almost child-like anticipation that the watch and chain you're holding will start whirling.

Francis said he didn't know he had the power until one day his great uncle came over to his home

"I guess it's a gift from the lord"

"I guess it's a gift from the Lord," Francis says. Witching is "pretty near perfect" everytime, says Francis but he adds that people sometimes don't dig deep enough for the water. And he emphasizes it is no use to witch for a drilled well. He says the equipment which the drillers use usually goes right on by the water vein before the water can be noticed.

Francis uses two methods of finding water. If he can find a tree which bears fruit containing pits, like cherry or hazelnut for example, he will cut a crocheted stick from it. The prongs of the approximately two-foot stick have to be cut on a slant for the magic to work.

When the stick is prepared Francis holds the two prongs in his hands with his thumbs covering the slanted ends and he starts to walk carefully over the ground.

As he nears the water vein, the protruding end of the stick starts pushing up, slowly.

With another step closer to the water's location the stick is almost vertical and it suddenly flips around completely out of Francis' control.

"The stick will either turn up or down but it always turns up with me," he says.

Francis is just as proficient at finding water with a gold watch and chain and this method seems to define the location of the water more exactly.

With a gold watch hanging on about a six-inch in Lochlin and witched a well for him. He told Francis where to dig for the water after witching the area and then left.

After his uncle had gone Francis tried to witch the property and it worked. Francis said his father also had a talent for witching.

Even if you are not blessed with the witching talent you can still have the feeling. Francis says that the stick and the watch will react for an untalented person if the witcher holds his wrists.

Also he said that other local witchers say a willow stick will work but he couldn't guarantee it because he had never tried the method.

Francis said that the most important thing involved in finding water after it has been witched is to follow the instructions.

"I witched a well once and the guy went down the hill further and dug," Francis said. Then he came back later and asked him to witch the property again because the first well had not panned out. Francis did witch the land again and suggested the spot he had advised the man to dig in the first place and he still has a good well today, he said.

So if water is what you want to find, maybe witching is the answer, but don't call Francis because as he says, he is not available for public witching.

For many years, mystery has surrounded the art of witching for water. There seems to be no apparent reason why some people like Jack Francis of Ingoldsby, possess this magical talent. If a person isn't born with the talent there is no way that witching will work for him unless he is assisted by a witcher. Although Francis has witched many wells locally, he has retired from the mysterious occupation.

SSFC applications for full-time up

Applications for full-time post-secondary programs at Sir Sandford Fleming College have increased by 12 percent over last year, admissions officers at the college's Brealey and Frost Campuses report.

To date 3,686 people have submitted applications for enrolment in college programs, up from 3,298 this time last year.

At Peterborough's Brealey Campus 2,001 applications have been received, a 20 percent increase over last year's 1,666.

On the divisional level, Brealey's technical division reported the largest increase, with 380 applications received ed compared to 269 a year ago, up 40 percent.

The business division saw applications jump 17 percent from 621 in April 1979 to 723 in April 1980.

In the general and applied arts division, applications also increased by 17 percent with 693 received, up from 599 in 1979.

Brealey's health sciences division experienced a 16 percent increase to 205. Last year at this time 177 applications had been received.

Sir Sandford's Frost Campus in Lindsay noted a 3.2 percent increase in applications, with 1,685 compared to 1,632 a year earlier.

A Toronto man was charged with careless driving following a two-car accident on Stanhope airport road last Wednesday afternoon.

Police say a car driven by Sonny Lansone, 24 of Toronto was eastbound on the North Shore Road when it collided with a car driven by William Barber, 34 of RR 1, Haliburton. Barber was northbound on Airport Road and turning onto North Shore Road when the mishap occurred.

Lansone was charged with careless driving. Damage to his vehicle was estimated at $800. Damage to Barber's vehicle was estimated at $1000.

A single car accident in the construction zone on Highway 519, south of Haliburton Village resulted in an estimated $1000 damage Thursday morning.

Police say a car driven by Arlene Petrini, 44, of RR 2, Haliburton was southbound and observed a bulldozer clearing debris off the roadway. Petrini then skidded into the rock fill.

A 30 year old Mississauga man suffered minimal injuries early Saturday morning when his car skidded off Highway 503 east of Furnace Falls. Frank Deak was eastbound when he lost control on a curve and struck a rock cut in the north ditch.

Damage was estimated at $1000.

In case you have not heard, this is one of the incidents you got when you elected Trudeau, a fellow who sulked a bit but finally agreed to be Prime Minister providing he was given his own way. The border drain of our precious fuel that will be depending on this coming winter and for more winters after that, is only pin money compared to the enormous drain at our airports with foreign airlines diverting their flights to Canada to get bargain gas. Mirabel is now reputed to be the chief drain hole of Canada's treasury to the amount of $10 billion in 1980, $50 billion in 1981 if we can manage to buy enough crude. To ease the treasury a bit Trudeau clamped a 5% surtax on corporations the very entities that the elderly, the widows and orphans depend on for their living. Now do you understand why Levesque thinks Quebec should leave such a spendthrift country? Unless Quebec does separate clean as a whistle Trudeau is the only man presently in Canada who can be elected Prime Minister.

The program to renovate the surfaces of the lawn furniture is much bigger than first appeared. The old finish must be removed, a very arduous and time consuming task, after which a coat of a somewhat new surface covering, super solignum, is applied. It is enough for two years. Then, after only a vigorous washing of the surface, another coat is applied. Meanwhile exposure to winter frosts in the open will do no harm. No more will we need to stack it in the shed, which is filling anyway, only sort of stack it around the barbecue on its cement platform, and we hope no more repairs.

Everything is moving toward a garden of muskmelon, peppers, and parsley and, of course, others not so featured. We hope we can get the round and around plowing done, rather than up and down only, which would require much shovel work after to make it right. The two metre aprons of plastic all around will smother any weeds out and removed the need to hoe. Let us hope we will have something interesting to show you when you visit Extendicare this summer.

Tuesday's afternoon bingo attracted much interest, with Charlie Welch calling and Bernice Ross and Helen Archer volunteer helpers, Pat Burk overall supervisor. We need more volunteers now and any ladies in the community who will take it on will win our gratitude.

Wednesday afternoon was Charlie Stormer's day to guide us making more mug and pickle racks and decorative plaques. Charlie has become a very faithful volunteer but he greatly enjoys doing so.

This is really a ducky day, reminding us to think of those creatures that fly away to leave in the fall and return to greet us in the spring, having flown even into South America. We wonder sometimes if they hit air pockets like commercial flights do, or if their guidance system tells them when one is ahead. They are ducks and geese none the less and are pretty wise.

Thursday morning Edna and George Tipton dropped in to see our horticultural display. The wintered over ones were a rather sickly looking lot after being exposed to the direct spring sun which burned them. The Tiptons stayed long enough to groom all the plants which now look a bit bare but ever so much neater. George even ensured the drainage of the paper cups which we are using as pots for early seedlings. Thanks folks!

As usual now, in the evening, Nancy Picard and Peggy Neville, provided us with another treat of old time favourite songs finally supplemented by Raymond Jenkins' appearance who added his pianissimo to an already delightful evening allowing Nancy to caper a bit as she is wont to do. Thank you all kind friends on behalf of the "Happy Gang".

There is a facet of this referendum in Quebec that has not emerged and should. It began in the disastrous defeat of the Scots under Prince Charles and the emergence of an Englishman, General Wolfe, a general of merit, a scholar and a gentleman, contributing much to the Scots' defeat. Orders went out to search and slaughter the defeated enemy in the highlands of Scotland. Wolfe searched but instead of slaughter recruited them into his own command and personally trained them. There was the reward in the subsequent victory at Quebec.

After the battle these Scots were demobilized there and given land tenure in the eastern townships representing a considerable quote of the anglophones in Quebec today having intermarried into the French fact as from 1759. The United Empire Loyalists of the 1780's added a further quote to this. This then is the anglo fact that must be reckoned with. They are not anglos in Quebec in the same sense that the French are in the other provinces. It would be interesting to know how many of our French Canadian politicians are descendants of those early settlers in the eastern townships.

Students receive merit certificates for their environmental projects

Twenty-three students from Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School have received certificates for their contribution to improving the environment.

All of the students in grades five and six were asked by the Ministry of the Environment to make posters showing how they would improve the environment.

Four of the students received top honours for their posters and as a reward will have the opportunity to tour the Leslie Frost Natural Resources Centre near Dorset on June 4. At the centre the students will be shown land and water programs that are underway at the complex.

The student project began when representatives from the ministry came to the school and made a presentation on the environment, pollution and how the students could help. The lecture included a slide show and the representatives' talk about their jobs with the ministry.

The program is not new to the area but switches back and fourth between Muskoka and Haliburton every other year.

Students receiving the certificates and crests were the top four contenders: Lisa Williams, Lindsey Tashlin, Judy Finlay, and Darryl Bell.

Also receiving certificates were Brent Newbatt, Bobby Picard, Michelle Parish, Lucy Postlethwaite, Dennis Roberts, Cathy Adams, Lyle Robinson, Gary Lewis, Marion Medcalf, Tommy Mc-

Knight, Ray Gervais, Jeff Smith, Brian Baker, Ronnie Woolcott, Sheila Kirkpatrick, Maureen Reid, Nancy Houghton, Shirley Bryant and John Strauss.

Last Friday evening the residents of Hyland Crest enjoyed the singing voices of the Gooderham United Church Choir. We would like to thank these people for coming to entertain us. Monday was a beautiful day, and after our regular fun and fitness program and crafts activities we took advantage of the sunshine. Several residents, went for a walk and some even picked a few Adder Tongues to decorate their tables.

Tuesday morning Rev. David Barker of the Minden Anglican Church held Communion in the chapel. Mrs. Agnes Taylor was here to play the organ for us.

We had a real good time at fun and fitness on Wednesday morning. Hugh McEachern was the winner at roll the ball with an almost perfect score. It was nice to have Carrie Drysdale join us for the session.

Later at crafts, we experimented with a new project called salt sculpturing. It proved to be very interesting. We had a lot of fun creating things from the dough mixture using our imagination.

Thursday afternoon the women of the Pentecostal Church in Gooderham brought an abundance of sandwiches, squares and cake for the tea party. Our thanks to these ladies for a lovely afternoon.

Minister welcomed

Service inducts pastor

- Submitted -

A joyous occasion on Thursday May 8 was the Induction of Pastor Everett Wicks as the new minister for Minden Gospel Church.

Officials from the associated gospel churches officiated at the Induction. Rev. D.C. Ralph, vice-president, from Hamilton chaired the meeting. Rev. Jack Hockney, executive secretary, assisted and was the speaker of the evening. Visitors from Peterborough and Norland attended. After the Induction Service lunch was served with a time of fellowship in the church basement.

Pastor Wicks comes from Peterborough. He has worked in the Canadian General Electric Co. in Peterborough for 41 years and is now retired from industry. Theological training for the ministry was through Moody Bible Institute. Pastor Wicks has served as Pastor in Keswick, Ontario and in Peterborough, Ontario. During his service he has had a major part in the establishing and building of two churches in Peterborough.

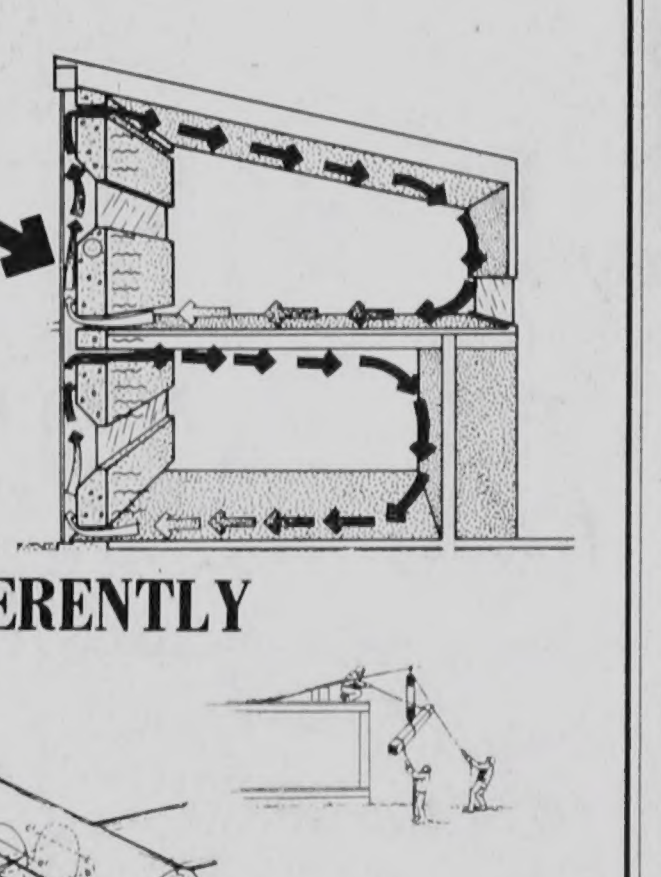

Minden Gospel Church welcomes Pastor and Mrs. Wicks and look forward to a time of blessing.

Let's keep Ontario healthy.

Rabid animals are a hazard this spring.

Rabies, which is spread by infected animals, is a serious problem in Ontario.

This spring it is of special concern in built up areas where wild animals...

particularly skunks...are infecting pets and children who come in contact with them.

Children should be warned to avoid wild animals, especially if they appear sick or friendly because these usually are signs that they are rabid.

Pets should be regularly vaccinated and kept indoors at night. You can also help to control rabies by reporting any pets or wild animals which seem to be acting strangely to your local police, humane society or health unit.

Do not touch dead animals and contact your doctor or health unit immediately if your child or pet comes in contact with wild animals. Do not handle your pet with bare hands immediately after it has fought with a rabid animal. Seek advice from a veterinarian.

If you would like to know more about rabies write for a free copy of our pamphlet. ANIMALS, RABIES AND YOU from the Ontario Health Resource Centre, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.

In the evening, the Kinsmen Club came to call the numbers for the weekly bingo game. There were quite a few lucky winners of tokens which are cashed in at the tuck shop.

On Friday morning on his way to fun and fitness, Mr. Harry Robinson grabbed one of our cooks, namely Ruby Graham, and led her to the auditorium and sat her down. Ruby was only able to stay for our opening exercise song, but we were very glad to have her join us.

Friday afternoon, Grace Coburn was with us to lead the sing song. Fred Ballard came with her to play the organ for us. Everyone enjoys singing the old favourite songs.

We had four very special people celebrating their birthdays this week. Irene Stewart, May 4, Ida Schell, May 10, Marjorie Kanally May 11, and Harry Robinson on May 8. Each of these people was presented with a decorated birthday cake by the kitchen staff and residents and staff all joined together to wish them a very happy birthday.

The movies this week were both filmed in South Africa. The first called "Land of Promise" showed us how the people live in this country. Their country is very rich in gold and diamonds and their medical knowledge is unsurpassed anywhere in the world. South Africa is continuing to grow and expand and has the greatest technology in the world. Bantu Toddlers was all about the people of the republic of South Africa and how they survive from birth to death. They seem to be very athletic and an extremely happy race of people.

It's been another busy week at Hyland Crest. Keeping active keeps both our minds and bodies fit.

who made the piano sing, Les Roberts with his guitar and Elsie McNeil with her voice for song, conducted our devotional period Friday morning. The portion of the Bible studied was ch. 19 the Book of Luke, the story of the rich tax collector Zaachaeus who was so anxious to see Jesus that he climbed a tree beside the road on which Jesus was approaching. On seeing this Jesus honoured his home by having his dinner there. We enjoyed having Pastor Brewster with us and at an after service snack of tea or coffee and cookies.

Two movies were shown in the afternoon. 1. City out of time, a movie of Venice, of tourism and historic; 2. Prairie Giants, a movie of the Canada Geese and some other migratory species. They are remarkable in endurance, in discipline, in navigation and in what we may call morals.

Province announces new tourism marketing plan

"Ontario - yours to discover" - that's the theme of the province's newly announced 1980 tourism marketing plan. "In the past, our target markets have been, in order of priority, the United States, our domestic market and Europe. Since potential travellers from the U.S. already perceive Ontario to be an attractive destination, this year we decided to place our highest priority on Ontario," said Industry and Tourism Minister Larry Grossman. "Ontario residents are going elsewhere for attractions which are available here," Grossman said. "We are going to attack this market with a specific, hard-hitting tourism campaign with strong back-up promotional support." "We're putting up money to encourage Ontario tourists to travel within the province. We want that increased support to act as a catalyst for the investment of the private sector," said Grossman. The multi-media, Ontario campaign will feature: 30-second TV commercials; radio ads featuring a new musical theme; billboard ads; full-page color ads in newspapers; a 40-page color magazine, to be distributed via daily papers; and, a "Discovery Kit" that acts as a "passport" to Ontario events. Meanwhile, overseas American and other Canadian vacationers will continue to get a strong "Visit Ontario" message. New strategies based on the "Ontario - yours to discover" theme are being formulated to attract overseas visitors, especially from the U.K., Germany, Japan, France and the Netherlands. Quebec newspaper and radio ads will feature the translated slogan "L'Ontario - a decouvrir" and a program is planned for Manitoba which will call attention to Ontario's nearby Northwest. Two new series of magazine ads will be aimed at the U.S. market. One series will focus on major tourist attractions such as Niagara Falls, Toronto and Ottawa; and the

Canoe builder keeps Indian craft alive

and photos
by
Sue Cooper

Rick Nash wishes more people were involved in building birch bark canoes.

Nash, who repairs canoes for the Kanawa Canoe Museum south of Dorset on Highway 35, says there are very few birch bark canoe builders around and even fewer Canadian craftsmen.

After being involved with the craft for close to 10 years, Nash feels it would be very helpful, not to mention enjoyable, to be able to swap tricks of the trade with other canoe builders. And it would certainly be beneficial for the other builders as Nash seems to have picked up quite a few tricks along the way.

Over a two year period, Nash, who is originally from Massachusetts, spent two months studying the Cree Indians at Lake Mistassini in northern Quebec.

He, along with another American canoe builder, Henry Vallaincourt, was interested in learning to build as the Indians did and also wanted to pick up the skills of making long and beavertail snowshoes and toboggans.

He said it was very hard for the Indians to understand why the men had travelled so far to watch them in their common chores.

"It's like someone coming into your house with a camera and taking pictures of you tying your shoe," he explained.

The first year the men spent two weeks with the natives and on their next trip the following year, they spent a month and a half of watching and learning from the Indians.

Nash is mainly interested in the design and the actual craft of the canoes but he does build under contract for individuals.

Presently, his favourite canoe design is the Montgamis circa 1880-90 although he will build any type of canoe. In fact he is now scheduled to construct a long-nose Ojibwa for a customer.

"It's not my favourite, but it's nice to have someone come up and ask for a specific canoe and know what they're talking about." He adds that many people are just interested in owning a birch bark canoe and not in the actual design.

"You can go on forever" about the types of canoes he says. They are named after Indian tribes who built them years ago and often the tribal ties are broken down into smaller groups representing other canoes, sometimes products of tribes combining designs.

Nash thinks the canoes built by the Indians in eastern Canada, including Ontario and Quebec, were far superior to the crafts built in the western provinces.

"It could be the materials they had to work with," he says, pointing to some of the ancient canoes on display inside the museum.

Nash says he can tell the origin of a canoe by the shape of the bow or if he is in doubt, by examining the ribbing and width. Some tribes, he says, are known for their craftsmanship while others seem to throw the canoe together in a haphazard manner.

Nash starts off his canoe building by finding a straight grained white cedar tree that meets his liking. After falling and preparing the tree, he splits it into long slat-like pieces that will be used for the gunnels of the vessel.

After splitting the cedar, the finishing touches are put on the gunnels with a "crooked knife" which smooths and evens out the surface.

Then he spreads the gunnel apart with a specially sized piece of wood, depending on the width of the canoe. After the gunnels have set he places mortices between them to keep them in shape permanently.

Nash also gets his birch bark and other materials from the nearby forest. The bark is cut from the trees and is almost a quarter of an inch thick. The bark is about the same in all seasons except that it has an extra rind in the winter.

To get the bark ready for the canoe, it is staked out in the length necessary for the vessel.

The ribbing and stems which actually shape the canoe are boiled and shaped by Nash molding them around his knee. They are then fastened with string to hold their shape until they are attached to the gunnels.

After staking out the bark, it is attached to the gunnels with spruce roots which have been boiled and skinned clean before use. The bark is cut down at the widest part of the canoe to make an even seam and in some cases, decorative bark is inlaid along the top of the canoe.

Most of the artwork which the Indians used to decorate their craft was picked up from the French, Nash says.

When the seams have been sewn tight with the spruce roots, spruce gum is applied over them to make sure the canoe is water tight. The finishing touch is to top off the gunnels with fine cedar strapping-like material. Amazing as it may sound, Nash used the only non-organic material in the canoe for this work. He attaches it with nails.

"I use pegs for customers because they like them but they're not as neat and the caps pull off after awhile," he explains.

Nash also adds that the Indians now use nails to finish off the canoes.

Although he started off in the trade using many modern tools, Nash is now using mainly old-fashioned tools to do his work.

Most of the handles for his tools are made from moose bones and antlers while some instruments are made solely from bone.

After getting used to working with the artifacts, Nash says it's easy. He also said it was easier to mold the wood around his knee rather than with machinery because it leaves both hands free to control the shaping of the wood.

One of his aims is to write a pamphlet with photography explaining the process of building a birch bark canoe. Photography, an interest and at one point a full-time job for Nash, is one reason he became interested in the canoes. The joy of photographing the art lead to his intense interest.

When he received the offer to work at the canoe museum he said he accepted it because he realized it would be an excellent chance for him to learn more about canoes and their history.

At the Museum he is involved in tearing down the canoes to make repairs and has learned many of the old-time builders' tricks.

All the canoes are different

"All the canoes are different; there are a lot of little tricks," he said. The nicest thing about the birch bark canoe is that the basic materials "cost zilch", Nash adds.

He is also involved in learning other almost-lost Indian arts such as tanning hides, making leather articles and bead work.

Last winter, he made his first attempt at tanning a moose hide and seemed quite satisfied with his success.

He took the hide and stretched it between two trees and started scraping it clean. This process took a long time and getting an even thickness was skillful work. Then the hide was taken into the house and thawed by the wood stove and was boiled in a mixture containing Ivory soap and lard to soften it up. Nash then took the hide and sewed the sides together from both the front and rear end.

It was then hung up and a fire of punk wood was made inside it to smoke the hide.

Nash said that it turned out very well.

He has been making some winter mittens with hides and is now becoming interested in the intricate bead work of the Indians.

The next big project he is planning is making a 20-foot kayak. He has been studying the subject over the past four years and has decided that the only way he is going to learn exactly how to make one is to do it.

The South Hampton Island model which he has chosen will be modified with a slightly different cockpit for the kayaker to sit in.

While seal skins are available from northern Canada, Nash says he will probably cover the kayak with canvas as many Eskimos are now using the more versatile material.

He said the problem with seal skins is that the kayak usually has to be re-skinned every year because of wear and tear. This is not very feasible as the purchase of skins and transportation would be expensive.

The same stitches are used with canvas as they are with the skins and every effort must be made to make them as waterproof as possible.

And as Nash gets involved with the designing and building of the kayak he will probably start picking up a few of those little hidden tricks that are so valuable to the trade.

Stanhope Notes

by Alex Stevenson

One fact to emerge from the May meeting of Stanhope Township Council was that council is determined to press ahead with the need for establishing a policy which will meet the needs of those property owners who wish to obtain closing up of shoreline rights of way, or ownership of same.

Council had the township solicitor present to explain the problems, as well as the avenues open to bring about the results desired by the lakeshore residents. It is clear that no step will be taken until such time as it is possible to give people a legal and unchallengeable deed of ownership to the allowances transferred. This will come about when the provincial government comes up with a policy on the matter, after which County Council will be able to adopt a procedure which would apply to all the municipalities in the county. All of this is some distance down the road and no overnight solution is going to be available.

It also seems to be certain that Stanhope will see a school of parachuting established at the airport, and probably in operation early in June. Mr. Lloyd Kallio stated that it was anticipated that there would be a good response to the school's activities and that students from other areas would be coming to Stanhope for experience in this area. In addition to the parachuting activities there may also be sky diving exhibitions to be seen, as this is also a part of the instruction program for those wishing to pursue it. Lloyd, who is the chief instructor and a master parachutist, has made so many jumps that he is now nearing the 2,000 mark. People in this area should find it an enjoyable way to put in time on a good-weather day, by being spectators as the parachutists make their descent, and perhaps the thrill of seeing sky divers practice their maneuvers high up, and gradually descending before opening their chutes.

Stanhope Volunteer Firemen will be holding a dance at the Firefighters Community Hall on May 17, and plans are being made for a fine evening, including a live orchestra. The affair deserves the support of the citizens since the volunteers hope to re-establish the association's funds.

Stanhope airport committee are moving ahead with plans for the spring Fly-in June 15 and have arranged for a number of interesting attractions. Included will be a representation from the

R.C.A.F., also a parachute demonstration, also attempts are being made to have a Corsair aircraft from the Aircraft Museum in Hamilton. Another interesting machine which may be on hand is the single passenger Gyrocopter, something which has been seen by few people. More can be said on the program as time approaches.

Stanhope fun days committee is also quickly working on plans for the events which will be held July 26 and 27.

On Sunday, May 18 at dusk the Norland Firefighters Association will present a gala fireworks display in Ward Memorial Park. These fireworks have been purchased through the proceeds of the hockey pool sponsored by this association. But like so many things these days the cost of Roman candles, sky rockets, etc. has risen considerably. Thus anyone who did not support the hockey pool this past season is asked to give a donation toward the cost of the fireworks as he enters the park. It is certainly a very economical way for a family to view the display. Expenses were just covered last year so more is needed for this year's higher costs. Let's all give to help and keep the celebration of Victoria Day in our own local park for everyone to enjoy! Special thanks to Valerie Greer who looked after the hockey pool collections and John and Dolly LeCraw for purchasing the fireworks.

While on the subject of Norland Firefighters Association the winner of the hockey pool on Saturday,

May 3 was Paul Lightfoot.

There have been several enquiries and questions re a "Meals on Wheels" service being established in the Norland area. Mrs. Valerie Shepherd is most interested in co-operating in this endeavour and if enough people would like to be served a good, nourishing meal once a week in this area, provided volunteers are available to help, Valerie would like very much to hear from you, (454-3744). Cost is $1.25 per meal if you desire to participate in the program and special diets will be considered. Helpers are needed from this area to help prepare the food and to deliver it. It is not hard work and really quite rewarding. Co-ordinator Valerie Shepherd is the lady to call if you can assist in this project.

Norland United Church Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Hazel Gostlin, Hilton Point Road on Tuesday, May 20 at 8:00 p.m. The group is planning once again to have their Opportunity Shop this summer and would be most pleased to accept good used clothing and articles for it. These things may be left at Norland Post office during business hours.

Last week I noted that as part of the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts, T.V. star and entertainer Tommy Hunter would appear at the Academy Theatre, Lindsay, May 30. Sorry if I've inconvenienced anyone but the correct date of his two concerts at 7:00 and 9:00 p.m. is Saturday, May 31. All seats are reserved and are $5 if purchased in advance and $6 at the door. With so popular a star, I imagine that the tickets will sell quickly. A reminder that on Friday, May 30 from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m., Norland Community Hall will be the place to purchase baked goods made by Women's Institute members and to view and/or buy local handicrafts. Light refreshments will also be available from the snack bar at a reasonable cost. Come out and support our county festival and local talent.

Mrs. Jean Stewart of Norland Women's Institute represented East Victoria District at the 32nd annual officer's conference of Federated Women's Institute of Ontario at the University of Waterloo on April 29, 30 and May 1. The theme of the conference was what, where and why for the year of Women's Institute. Speaker on Tuesday evening was Mr. R.K. McNeil, M.P.P. for Elgin County and parliamentary assistant to Hon. Lorne Henderson, Minister of Agriculture and Food. Wednesday's luncheon guests were Hon. Mrs. Pauline McGibbon, Lieutenant-governor of Ontario and Miss Molly McGhee, director of Home Economics Branch of Ontario, Ministry of Agriculture and Food. In the evening the W.I. officers enjoyed the Gilbert and Sullivan musical, H.J.S. Pinafore presented by the students of Waterloo-Oxford District Secondary School. Jean Stewart is the president-elect of East Victoria District W.I. and will accept this office at the district annual meeting in Fenelon Falls on May 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Newman were guest speakers at Norland United Church on Sunday, May 4. The Newmans and their three daughters are on leave in Canada from Durban South Africa. Mr. Newman, a pastor of the Evangelical Church of South Africa told and showed slides

Intended for last week

"We need society, and we need solitude also, as we need summer and winter, day and night, exercise and rest."

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held last Wednesday at the Dorset Community Centre for Debbie Fuller, daughter of Ernie and Sophia Fuller of Dorset. Debbie is being married on May 24 to Dave Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferguson of Huntsville. The shower was well attended and the bride to be received many lovely and useful gifts. After the gifts had been opened and displayed the guest of honour thanked everyone and lunch was served by the hostesses.

Canon J.F. Hinchliffe of Port Sydney is taking the services in the Anglican Lake of Bays Mission churches while the rector, Murray Bradford, is on vacation.

Congratulations to Hucena Sedgewick of St. Nora's Lake who celebrated her birthday on Friday, May 2. A few friends and neighbours dropped in to share a birthday cake and wish her many happy returns.

Remember the date is May 14 when Dr. Hunt of Huntsville will be lecturing at the Dorset Community Centre at 8 p.m. The general public is welcome and there is no admission charge. The event is under the auspices of the Dorset Senior Club.

Local residents were relieved when the character who was in the vicinity and making himself at home in any cottage he found vacant, was apprehended by the police. Even though he may have been harmless, a number of residents live alone and don't appreciate having a prowler loose in the vicinity. The township got busy last week and cleaned the dirt off the village sidewalks that had accumulated during the winter months. It is so nice to have them clean again.

We send get well wishes to Murray McEachern who is a patient in Huntsville Hospital. We hope he makes a speedy recovery. And best wishes to Ralph Raven who is recuperating at home. Our kind thoughts and best wishes are extended to Doris Keown who is still a patient in Toronto General.

BEACONBROOK MOTOR HOTEL

Members of Mrs. Chatfield's grade 5 class HHSES students celebrate spring with poetry

SPRING AT LAST!!

Spring is here at last!!
I'm glad the cold winter is past.
The crocus is now in full bloom,
The old oak casts a shadowy gloom.
The sleepy old bear opens his eyes,
The long winter dies...and, dies...
Oh, see how the doe walks with her newborn -
No longer does the red breasted robin sing forlorn...
But many birds join in the chorus,
In the fragrant smelling forest,
The melting snow tinkles down the rocks.
The wild geese fly here in honking flocks.
Spring is not vain
Nature is born again!!

Lucy Postlethwaite

SPRING IS HERE

Lillies are springing from the ground,
Trilliums and violets are all around.
The trees are swaying in the breeze,
While the grass lays down at ease.
The sap dribbles from the spout,
And buds on trees are all about.
Now I know what spring is for -
It's for everybody to adore!

Lindsey Tashlin

GETTING IN THE SPRING OF THINGS

The birds are chirping nicely,
And are heard by and by.
Though some things, majestic to me,
Are dull from high in the sky.

Water trickling quietly,
Into a low pool.
The only thing that's sickly,
Is staying in at school.

The rain comes down in torrents,
Rushing quickly by.
Filling the St. Lawrence,
And I am far from dry.

The fragrance of the flowers,
The dashing of young deer.
All of spring's great powers,
Seem very, very near.

The flowers are all blooming,
Summer is very near,
With the stag fights booming,
Stay very, very clear.

The sap is trickling quietly,
From a tapered spile,
It's only running slightly,
In a slow poetic style.

Andrew Milne

SPRING

Spring, spring is coming fast,
Even though it never last.
Girls are biking,
Boys are hiking,
Creeks are flowing,
The snow is going.

Flowers are peeking through the ground,
Birds are singing all around.
Spring will be here for a while more,
But spring has never been a bore.

Wanita Harrison

SPRING

Spring is coming
Ringing in,
As clear as the sky
With plenty of wind.
Children are biking,
Smaller kids are triking,
But me,
I'm just soaking up the sun.
I don't have enough energy,
To get out and run.

Stephanie Barry

SPRING

Spring is dawning -
The big bear is yawning,
The sun is shining,
Spring is outlining.
Look at spring -
See what it can bring.
Spring is showing
That everything is growing.
Let's give a cheer
For spring is here!

Kelly Reynolds

SPRING SOUNDS

Spring is here -
Flowers are so dear,
I hear the sound of water,
All through the month and year.
I see flowers blooming,
I hear trucks zooming.
I see frogs jumping,
Noisily bonking, bumping.
Mice like to creep
but I...
like to sleep.

Dennis Roberts

SPRING

While lilies creep out of the ground,
Crocuses and tulips do abound.
Pussy willows purr without care,
While Mother Nature her beauty does share.
Green moss covers the monstrous rocks,
While the animals to others do stalk.
The spring is here, the sun returns,
And more about nature the children learn.

Lisa A. Williams

SPRINGTIME

Grass swaying,
Birds singing,
Children playing,
School bells ringing!

Seagulls gliding,
Children riding,
On their bikes,
Or taking nature hikes!

Hello once again and I'd like you all to know: happiness is - having family back home. Helen and Alex Graham arrived at Toronto, Saturday, May 3, from Ireland and stayed the night with Bonnie and Jim Walker, Weston. They visited sister Audrey and Wilf Belanger and family, Rexdale and arrived in Norland, Sunday, April 5 where Helen, Alex, Bonnie, Jim, Ida and Clyde Pardy, Cobocok, Bill, Lorrie and Jason Moss, Norland and hubby Bill and myself had a great old time over dinner, at Mary L. and John Pyke's house. At the moment Helen and Alex are staying in Norland and have already had a number of visitors but they expect to start house hunting as soon as possible. I'm sure glad to have you "guys" back.

Pam Hall, of the Pattie House, in "Coby", is at present, a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay and I'm told, would be very pleased to have someone drop by for a visit or if you're so inclined, I'm sure she'd love to hear from you via a phone call or card. Helps shorten a long day! Get well soon, Pam.

Vera McKague is still a patient in Lindsay and would also like to hear from some of her old friends, as I'm sure most folks who are laid up would.

Beautiful weather for a week and I get busy and plant all my dahlias and next day is like late autumn again. I guess you can't win 'em all!

I hear by the grapevine they're very busy at Balsam Lake Provincial Park getting prepared for the annual "stampede".

Here's an easy recipe that you can make into one very classy looking dessert with a bit of fuss or use as three separate dishes. It's called: Everyday Cake: Makes 3 - 9 inch layers, 1 1/4 inches deep. 3 cups sifted cake flour, 1 tsp. baking soda, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup shortening, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 3 eggs, unbeaten, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup distilled vinegar, 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Sift flour, soda and salt together. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time and beat thoroughly after each addition. Combine milk, vinegar and vanilla and add alternately with the flour, one-third at a time. Beat until smooth after each addition. Turn into 3 greased 9-inch cake pans. Bake at 375 degrees (moderate oven) for 25 to 30 minutes.

Glad to hear Gertie Crichton, RR 1, "Coby", is getting better every day. It will be nice to see you out and around again, Gertie!

I was very sorry to hear of Bev Graham's dad being so very ill.

Nice to see Ada and Les Thomas home again from down south. I enjoyed our sidewalk chat in "Coby" and thank you so much for all your compliments re the column.

I didn't realize I was being read away down in Florida. How about that!

Congratulations to happy parents, Wendy and Bill Cahill of Scarborough. Wendy is daughter of Joyce and Jack Hills of RR 1, Kinmount, who became the proud grandparents of Lindsay Sarah, weighing in at over 9 lbs. on April 30. Much happiness is wished for all concerned.

For all bingo fans: games starting with early birds at 7:30 p.m. at the Catholic hall in Bobcaygeon, every Monday evening and run by Father Hart; every Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at Kirkfield community hall and run by the Lions; Thursday night early birds starting 7:30 at "Coby" Legion and Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Kinmount Legion. I hear the Lions will be starting up their bingo again on Wednesday evenings and will let you know of that later.

Much happiness in years to come is wished for Denise Bryant and her future husband who were wed May 10.

Happy belated birthday to of his work with Indian people who attend the Durban church where he is minister. He is also actively involved in taping religious radio messages that are air freighted to Swaziland and then are broadcast throughout much of Africa from there. The Indian population first came to Africa to work in the sugarcane fields but today are established in many businesses and have thriving communities throughout Africa with the English language being universally spoken.

Mrs. Newman had pictures and told of their family life and other activities that they enjoyed in this faraway country with its different cultures and people.

I have from time to time

mentioned attending the Canadian Club at Miss Diana's Restaurant, Lindsay where members enjoy a good dinner followed by interesting and educational speakers.

At this time dates and speakers have not been confirmed by the national office of the Canadian Club but I hope to be able to print a list of speakers plus their topics in time for anyone who might be interested in attending these meetings. The first one is scheduled for September.

Mrs. Joe Heffer of Cobocok is this year's president, Miss Laura Gaunt of Head Lake is vice-president and I am a director so this area is well represented on the executive.

The only difference between a rut and a grave is the depth.

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

Saturday, May 10 was a lovely day for the wedding of Anne Tallman and Morris Elliott. This young couple were born and raised in this area and are well loved by the residents. Anne chose a good friend for matron of honour who was dressed in yellow which contrasted nicely with the blue gowns of her bridesmaids, Lynn Tallman, Kathy Agnew and Sharon Barnes. Best man Barry Agnew and ushers Lew O'Hara and

Steven Elliott looked very smart in their formal attire. The wedding took place at St. Margaret's Anglican Church with Canon Moore-Smith officiating the couple and Mrs. Sylvia Cameron at the organ. A reception took place at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre with 165 guests and with the catering provided by the members of the U.C.W. A great celebration followed to end this happy occasion and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Elliott then left for Myrtle Beach for their honeymoon.

Monmouth volunteer firemen bingo games will commence on May 22 and will take place every Thursday through the summer months. Proceeds from these games are used for fire equipment and for charitable purposes. The games are held at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre and begin at 8 p.m. Support of the bingo games is support for the men who protect your homes.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Neil Billings, long-time resident of Wilberforce who recently passed away. The funeral service was held at the Minden funeral parlour on Saturday, May 10 with Canon Moore-Smith officiating. Interment took place at the Gooderham cemetery with members of the Legion Branch 624, acting as pall bearers.

Dale and Connie Holland have gone west to Calgary where they will start a new home. Although this area of Wilberforce is where they would have chosen to live, lack of suitable employment forced the move and we are sorry to lose this bright young couple and their two children but wish them every success for the future.

The good days are with us once more if you can discount the blackflies. The ice of winter has killed off a few rose bushes that have flourished for years but many other lovely perennials have survived.

It is nice to see the Grant family back again. Here is some good news for all of those who have missed the service of the laundromat. Mr. Mathews reports that all is in perfect running order once again which includes the car wash. So now we can once again enjoy the convenience of these utilities.

Don't forget Kintoria day on May 17 with great entertainment planned for everyone. Let's hope that good weather prevails on this day.

puppet show. Grades 1, 2, and 3 had a contest in French. All this, plus three plays, one of them being an updated version of "Little Red Riding Hood". The Troll and the Three Billy Goats" and "Gone Fishin'". The fun evening ended with refreshments being served.

Ken and Ida Young of Crystal Pier travelled to New Jersey to attend a wedding recently where their hosts, Dr. and Maureen Davidson took them to "Hambone Kelly's" which is now a restaurant, featuring Dixieland Jazz. It was quite a surprise to Ida as she remembers trains running through this area when it was a railway station. Time does change things Ida. Glad to see you home again.

Just had a very nice visit with Mrs. Phyllis McGrath, on the phone. She had as a visitor to her home in Kintoria. Mrs. Ruth Menard, on Thursday evening. It was all my pleasure speaking with you, Mrs. McGrath and with nice things like you said to me, you can call me any old time.

Sorry to hear Jack Hills is under the weather. Hope you're feeling much better very soon, Jack.

Recent visitors at the home of Clara and Ambrose Watson on Howland Junction Road were Arden and Beulah Dracup and Darlene and Mrs. Lena Dracup, all of Peterborough.

Charlene Fountain, Rita Stroud and daughters Susan and Beth of Oshawa. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merritt of Arthur, Ontario are spending a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bamford left on an extended trip through the western provinces, on to Vancouver and down to California, U.S.A.

Mike and Flo Schlosser visited for a couple of days at Capreol, Ontario.

Give me a call at 488-2399 if you have any coming events or past events, birthdays, whatever. In the meantime, stay well. Have a happy day.

Farm News and Views

A Forage Day is being held in Victoria County on Wednesday, May 28. This event will be held on the farm of Bob Dykstra, on County Road #6, between Oakwood and Little Britain.

The Forage Day program will provide an opportunity for area farmers to learn about the latest techniques in harvesting and handling forage crops. Practical demonstrations of a variety of different makes of equipment will help farmers compare their features.

These demonstrations will start at 12:30 p.m. with forage harvesters. Conventional bale systems will be demonstrated at 1:30 p.m. and mower-conditioners will be featured at 2:30 p.m.

In addition, there will be special demonstrations such as sharpening the knives on forage harvesters.

Forage Day is being sponsored by the Victoria County Soil and Crop Improvement Association, with the co-operation of the five main-line machinery dealers in the Lindsay area. These are: Arnott Farm Equipment Ltd.; Morgan B. Baker Equipment Ltd.; Callaghan Farm Supply; Hub International Farm Equipment Ltd.; and Bob Mark Ford Tractor Sales Ltd.

All farmers in the area are invited to attend.

More 4-H Clubs Organized April is organization month for many 4-H Agricultural Clubs in Victoria County. Some of the recently organized clubs are as follows:

The Omeme 4-H Beef Calf Club has 21 members with Bob Burley and Doug Graham leading the club. President is Hugh Leggett, #5, Lindsay, vice president, Blaine Kennedy, #4, Omeme, secretary, Marie Walden, #2, Lindsay and news reporter, Darryl Kennedy, #4, Omeme.

Lee Snoddon is leading the 14 members of the Little Britain 4-H Beef Calf Club. Brian Dykstra, #2, Little Britain is president, Susan Bowen, #1, Little Britain is vice president, Colleen Warnock, #1, Little Britain is secretary and Randy Demoe, news reporter.

The Emily 4-H Pony Club has 10 members under the guidance of Sally Darling of Omeme and Mary Elle Armstrong of Ennismore. President is Steve Darling, #1, Omeme, vice president is Pam Hickey, #1, Omeme, secretary, Donna Montgomery, #1, Omeme, treasurer, Cindy Wheeler, #2, Ennismore and news reporter, Nicole McTeague of Milliken. The Victoria Day holiday is this coming weekend and there are many things to do around the area. There is a free puppet show for the children at the Stanhope Library at 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 17 as well as many auction and garage sales on the same day.

I'm happy to report that Donny Griffin came home from hospital in Peterborough last Thursday and is recuperating at home. All the best, Donny.

Condolences to the family and friends of the late Hugh and Rob Kernohan whose funeral services were today (Monday). The two brothers were residents of Hyland Crest Home in Minden and passed away on Friday, May 9.

Don't forget - this Thursday night is the 4th annual Scout Festival of Fun at the Haliburton Secondary School. This is a free admission evening of local talent and we have a good deal of talent in our county. The program is from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and a collection will be taken to aid the Haliburton County Chapter of the Association for Children With Learning Disabilities (A.C.L.D.) See you there.

There will be a memorial service for the late Gertrude Allcorn at Zion United Church in Carnarvon on Saturday, May 17 at 3 p.m.

Our church here in Carnarvon was almost full last Sunday - it was family Sunday and the Sunday school children and teachers enjoyed the service with their families rather than in their respective classes. We also had many of our summer visitors in attendance and our junior choir of seven was a real treat to hear.

This week is Police Week and all interested people are invited to visit the local O.P.P. detachment. I went with our local Brownie pack a few years ago and found the visit very interesting and informative.

This paper is to be commended, in my opinion, for the stories of local interest which have been printed recently such as the articles on duties of local by-law enforcement officers, a day in the life of a school bus driver, and the views of a special education teacher. I enjoyed them all as well as last week's editorial on Education Week.

I hear that the beef barbecue and dance sponsored by the Haliburton County Fair Board was a success. I was sorry to have been unable to attend this function as a friend told me today how delicious the beef barbecue was.

Many people had families visiting last weekend as it was Mother's Day. We had my sister Fern Lake and Art Kennedy from Bomanville visiting with us for the weekend.

A new addition at Welch's

Foodtown at Maple Lake is a gas bar. The owner, Leroy Eager, had his gas pumps removed a few years ago but has decided there is a need for them again now.

From the United Church bulletin of May 11th - "God's people are not without trial - nor without Him in time of trial."

Members of the junior and senior bands of the Haliburton Secondary School travelled to a music festival at North Hastings School in Bancroft last week, and came home pleased with the results of their endeavours. Also, the members of our track and field team came home victorious for the 9th consecutive year from the track and field meet held at I.E. Weldon Collegiate in Lindsay last Thursday. They go on to compete in Peterborough this week. Congratulations and best of luck to these young people.

By the way, last week I goofed - those trees the Scouts were planting were at the firehall and library.

Please drive carefully this weekend - there will be quite a bit more traffic than we've been used to over the winter.

Ten students enjoyed making several projects of stained glass at a 10-week course taught by Daniel Erikson at his Harcourt workshop. Daniel explained that the participants learned to cut the glass and assemble using lead construction. He plans to continue next fall with an intermediate course using copper construction of the glass.

Daniel and Jane Erikson are the happy parents of a new baby Jill, on May 7, 1980, a sister for Joni.

Mrs. Iris Mumford and

Mr. and Mrs. Wren Hughes have purchased and moved into the home previously owned by Tom and Lois Corbett.

Wayne Hughey has returned to Harcourt, and is living with his mother, Mrs. Eva Hughey. His wife Joanne and daughter Sherry shall join him here as soon as the school year ends.

Haliburton social planning council meets

At a meeting of the Haliburton County Social Planning Council, April 24, the following matters were discussed.

Phillipe Wilmer reported that the Home Support Services for the Elderly has employed a secretary and a co-ordinator, both of whom will work three days a week in offices at the Dysart municipal building. Presently, the Meals on Wheels Programme is providing meals to ten individuals in Haliburton County. Interest has been expressed by Gooderham and Cardiff to become involved in this programme.

Susan Clements reported on the March 27 meeting of the Social Planning Council representatives and the Social Services Committee. The Social Planning Council proposed a union of the two groups, and stressed the need for good communication between them. Some members of the Social Services Committee were against this proposal. It was decided to discuss this further at next month's meeting.

The Social Planning Council is sponsoring a Summer Employment Project initiated by Sir Sandford Fleming College to provide a profile of industry and business in the college area. Blanche Turner indicated that the profile would include information on the number and types of jobs available.

It was announced that the Social Planning Council and the Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded are co-sponsoring a meeting open to the general public on Friday, May 9, 1980 at 8:00 p.m. at the Rial's End Gallery, Haliburton. The guest speaker will be the deputy minister of the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services, Robert Carman.

The Social Planning Council was informed that it was granted $100 from county council.

It was suggested that the council develop a questionnaire seeking to identify gaps

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

As I start my column this week, I am reminded of the words of William Arthur Ward, "If the life of a river depended only on the rain that falls within the confines of its own banks, it would soon be dry. If the life of an individual depended solely on his own resources, he would soon fall. Be grateful for your tributaries." We all have so much to be grateful for, the beauty of spring, the singing of birds, the trees bursting into leaf and one has to be grateful for health and the beauty around them makes one glad they can enjoy it.

Tim Jackson of North Bay visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Jackson recently.

I watched the final game of the Memorial Cup series last Sunday afternoon and was thoroughly disgusted by the attitude of the crowd. If that is western hospitality, I'll stick around home. With eggs the price they are, one would have to do without for many breakfasts to be able to save up to throw on the ice as was done at that game and not satisfied with egg throwing, they had to throw a chicken out. The poor chicken was petrified and one wonders what was done with it after it was caught?

While still on hockey, I watched the last game of the N.H.L. semi-finals Saturday night and am rather glad that N.Y. Islanders will be playing the Flyers. They are a weight throwing team also, so I wonder how it will end!

Mrs. Nell Anderson has been visiting with the Wren Hughes family at Harcourt.

The Women's Institute will be holding their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Merv Bunker on Wednesday, the 21st at 2 p.m. The ladies are asked to wear old time costumes if possible, and if they are in need of transportation, to meet at the post office at 1:30 p.m. All ladies welcome.

With warmer days approaching one does not wish to spend all day in the house so here is a quick meal that kids especially like. "Potato Chip Burgers" - 1 lb. ground beef; 1 cup crushed potato chips; 1/2 cup finely chopped onion; 1/2 tsp. seasoned salt; 1/4 tsp. pepper; 5 hamburger buns split. Combine ground beef, potato chips, onion and seasonings; form into five patties. Broil 4" from heat, 5 to 6 minutes, or until browned, turn; broil 4 to 5 minutes more, or until beef is done (or spit broil). Serve between split buns. You can prepare these ahead and keep in freezer ready to heat as needed. Makes 5 servings.

An "Hour of Fellowship" will be held at Haliburton Senior Elementary School on Friday, May 23 at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Hugh Jameson of Faith Mission will be the speaker and special music will be provided by the Petit family from Bancroft. Tell your friends and come enjoy this special hour sponsored by Haliburton Highlands Chapter of E.F.C. Canada.

I am not sure all happy people are generous - but I never saw a generous person who wasn't happy.

Helen Burke of Lochlin took her holidays in Germany this year. Sure hope she's back in time for ball season which is ready to start soon.

My apologies for naming Mrs. Lorne Coburn instead of Mrs. Edna Cowan as working with Mrs. Grace Earle when "Meals on Wheels" was started in the Minden area.

Mr. Bill Yeo left last week for a job in Calgary, Alberta.

I sure hope all mothers enjoyed "Mother's Day" as much as I did. It is very rare that I have a visit from three of our four on that day but Dennis came over from C.F.B. Borden and Helen came over from Bracebridge and Muriel stopped in so it made my day to have a visit from three of them on that special occasion.

Don't forget the puppet show at the municipal building this coming Saturday. Posters are up in the stores. Bill Hart of Woodstock spent a few days with the Phil Robinson's last week.

Last Wednesday was the spring workshop for the librarians of the county at the county library.

The Ron Cox's of Peterborough spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox.

The Thursday afternoon card party gang held a pot luck supper last Tuesday at the St. Paul's parish hall. After supper the prizes were given for the year. High average in cribbage went to Vera Ward; in euchre to Pearl Cowen and Harry MacMinn won a prize for perfect attendance. A thank you gift was presented to Gladys Wruth for her work during the year. The rest of the evening was spent playing cards.

The ladies of the Minden United Church spent an enjoyable evening listening to Mrs. Robt. Herlihey speak on her experience in Russia this past March. She also had slides which were much enjoyed.

Last Wednesday judges Isabelle Harrison, Lil Martin, Rheta Brown and Jeanne Sears from the Minden Women's Institute were at the school to judge the entries in the W.I. yearly contest. The winners were - Kindergarten - 1st, Tony Prentice; 2nd, Teresa Short; 3rd, Rebecca Wilson. Grade 1 - 1st, Mike Muli; 2nd, Darren Sawyer; 3rd, Marjorie Phillips. Grade 2 - 1st, Karen Cooper; 2nd, Heather Donaldson; 3rd, Tara Barnes. Grade 3 - 1st, Kelly Dollo; 2nd, Christina Irwin; 3rd, Tasha Saltonovich. Grades 4 and 4 decided to exhibit Haliburton County history, instead of having entries. Grade 5 (Limericks) - 1st, Virginia Elliott; Hilga Meyers; 3rd, Janet Brown.

Grade 6 - 1st, Paula Beaver; 2nd, Judi Lougheed; 3rd, Kelly Sawyer. Grade 6 (Wall Hangings) - 1st, Melanie Legge; 2nd, Kelly Sawyer; Marcia Rendall. Grade 7 - 1st, Sheila Stevenson; 2nd, Sheri Walker; 3rd, Alison Hill. Grade 8 - 1st, Hailey Hamilton; 2nd, Sheila Wilson; 3rd, Tim Wessell.

Hey, did you notice that it was a large majority of girls who won the prizes? The boys opted out of showing their shopwork.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society held their regular meeting at the municipal office on May 6 with Mr. Amos Brubacher presiding. Members were present from Minden, Ingoldsby, Carnarvon and West Guilford. Regular business was presented then Mr. Len Lonsberry, representing council, spoke of improvements to be made along the river bank as well as other places. Council is very happy to co-operate in making Minden village and other areas of the townships more attractive.

Voluntary help is needed to start preparing the flower beds. Sue Sisson reported that there were 110 members at present, but more are always welcomed.

Wendy and Greg Renoud and little daughter, Stephanie of Newmarket spent last weekend with Mrs. Mary Limrick. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Basinger of Mississauga also visited Mrs. Limrick and were busy opening up their summer home for the season.

A baby shower was held at Faith Tabernacle, Saturday evening for new mother-to-be Heather Hirstwood. Bob Bartley and Laurie Keast (of Fenelon Falls) became "Mr. and Mrs." on Saturday. Congratulations also the new Mr. and Mrs. Magee! Lots of showers and weddings these days!

With the opening of pickeral season this weekend, we are back to summer-type traffic and crowds. If you are a fisherman, I hope you were successful in getting a good catch.

We have a pair of ducks that have been coming each morning, very early (6:30 a.m.) for their breakfast. The duck and drake began coming a week ago, to our neighbour then to our place, from the river each day. We rather look forward to our feathered friends coming now and enjoy feeding them.

Nice to see Jean Shields home again after a long stay in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto. Jean came home on Friday and is convalescing at home after her surgery in Toronto.

Walter Marles and Alf Zealand of Lindsay were visitors of Mrs. Annie Marles and had dinner with her on Saturday.

Don and Jane Fountain and boys of Barrie were weekend visitors of Gwen Rutter. L.O.B.A. #1162 held their monthly meeting on Monday evening last. Plans were made for quilting of a quilt and their anniversary meeting, 32nd anniversary, coming up in June. One sister member, Dora Dudman of Burnt River is very ill in Ross Memorial Hospital and the ladies will remember her in their thoughts and prayers. We enjoyed a visit from our family Bob, Marilyn and family of Stroud and Clinton and Heather Hirstwood of Scarborough for the weekend.

Softball players are still needed. The more the better. Drop over to the park some evening while practice is on and enquire how you can become part of the action.

Hydro proposes 81 rate increase

Ontario Hydro is proposing a 9.4 percent average increase in its 1981 bulk power rates, Chairman Hugh Macaulay has announced.

The proposed rates would mean a 9.3 percent average rate increase to each of the 323 municipal utilities in the province, and an average 9.6 percent increase to Hydro's 105 large direct industrial customers.

The rate proposal has been submitted to the Minister of Energy, and will be reviewed by the Ontario Energy Board at public hearings this summer.

The cost of supplying bulk power in 1981 is forecast at $2.6 billion, an increase of $305 million over 1980. Increased sales next year are expected to recover $79 million, leaving $226 million to be recovered through the 9.4 percent rate increase.

Of the total cost increase, about 45 percent, or $138 million, is due to fuel and related costs. The bulk of the fuel cost, $119 million, will be for additional coal-fired generation and the higher cost of coal.

Other major components are:

- Operation, maintenance and administration costs will go up by $63 million, with escalation accounting for $45 million of that increase.
- Fixed charges, including interest, foreign exchange costs and depreciation contribute a further $41 million. - Net income requirement increases $53 million to meet statutory debt retirement obligations and to assist in financing the system expansion program.

The exact rate increase to each utility will depend on individual demand, energy use and supply conditions. Each utility will announce its own retail rate for 1981.

The bulk power rates resulting from this proposal will also apply to Ontario Hydro's rural retail system.

Harcourt News

Bancroft.

The ratepayer's meeting on April 29 was poorly attended. Ambrose Donaher was appointed to the hall board to replace Bill Boomhauer. Gary McKnight, as representative from council, reported that there are plans to resurface the old Harcourt road. Chuck and Betty Irvine noted that they have attended Minor Softball meetings with Paudash, McArthur's Mill and Cardiff. They are anxious to get the registration forms and fees in order to organize the teams. The youngsters need coaches and umpires. Anyone who can help, please contact Chuck at 448-2322.

Interested in getting some help to lose a few pounds? Join the Slim and Trim Club. They meet every Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Harcourt community centre. Bob Tomlinson, known as Big Bob, died recently in Peterborough. He was a long-time resident of Harcourt, having been employed at Standard Chemical.

A licensed dance will be held on Saturday, May 17, at the community hall featuring the band "Burnt River Country".

The Harcourt Chapel has interdenominational services every Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. On May 18, the speaker is Charles Hughes and on May 25, the speaker is Gordon Sharpless. Report from Parliament

security and equalization payments. These facts were contained in a speech given last Wednesday in France by Gerard Pelletier, Canadian Ambassador to France.

It should be remembered that, while both Levesque and Ryan want a new Constitution, the provinces and the federal government haven't even been able to agree on an amending formula for our present Constitution. For us to consider scrapping the BNA Act to satisfy Quebec, whether by Levesque's or Ryan's initiative, is unthinkable.

The United States amended its Constitution only twice as a direct result of its bloody four-year Civil War (the 13th and 14th Amendments). The 13th was adopted two years after the war, when tempers had cooled somewhat, and the 14th was ratified four years after the war had ended. The American Constitution has a built-in amending formula.

Canada has the third oldest Constitution in the Western Hemisphere that is still intact. It is not a perfect Constitution, but it is not all that bad, either. If it is amended, it should be done according to an amending formula, and in a calm and deliberate manner, not in the emotion-charged atmosphere that exists in Canada today.

Both Levesque and Ryan want special rights for Quebec, and the French language, enshrined in a new Canadian Constitution. If we allow them that, then all other provinces will have the same right to demand special status. This would result in a hodge-podge Constitution, guaranteeing Balkanization of Canada, and an end to the Canadian Confederation.

I am a staunch Constitutional Monarchist, and I want to hear more voices raised in defence of our Constitution and our Monarch. Within the framework of this system we can continue to be a great nation. Without it we are nothing, and that, I believe, is the real choice facing us.

Tourism project

other will emphasize the appeal of Ontario's uncrowded northern wilderness.

Newspaper and radio ads will also be used in the U.S. campaign, mainly to attract residents in areas which are within "a tank of gas" of border crossing points all across the province.

The total cost of the new marketing campaign will be $9.6 million, up by $3.5 million from last year's budget, chiefly to allow for the stepped-up Ontario campaign.

The slogan and shift in market emphasis were decided on after extensive study. "We found a tremendous appetite among Ontarians for more information about our own province," Grossman said. "The increased domestic marketing budget and the carefully work-out Ontario - yours to discover" theme are intended to capitalize on that interest."

Total tourism expenditure in 1979 reached an estimated $6.6 billion, making tourism second only to manufacturing in man-years of employment and provincial tax revenues generated. Industry and tourism experts predict that tourism could earn $120 billion in the 80's and become Ontario's single most important industry by the year 2000.

Social services

in community serves. The questionnaires would be sent to social service providers, churches, community and interest groups.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:30 a.m. The next regular meeting will take place on Thursday, May 22, 1980, at 9:30 a.m., at the Carnarvon Christian Education Building.

Mr. George Tipton reported that Stanhope municipal office would like help with the flower gardens also the Stanhope library. West Guilford Community Centre, to date, has not mentioned the gardens. These in past years have been done by the Horticultural Society.

Mr. Brubacher mentioned that the hanging baskets are planted and being cared for by Mr. Kraemer in his greenhouse until such time as they will be put up along main street.

Barb Ballantyne spoke about the flower show and gave out the prize lists to all members present. This will be held at the parish hall on August 14 and 15. This is a first for the Society and if you are a member you may enter. There will be flower gardens to be judged also vegetable gardens. This will be done once a month until the flower show.

It was decided to enter a float in the County Fair in August.

Convenors were named to take care of the tea at Hyland Crest.

A donation will be sent to the Port Hope Horticultural Society. This was decided by the members, and the amount is to be decided by the executive.

The speaker, Mr. Peter Kraemer was introduced by Mr. Brubacher. He spoke on gardening by raised beds and its benefits. He also discussed flowers and their care. He was thanked by Gwen Cox and presented with a gift.

Several donated plants were used for the regular draw.

Beautiful rose bushes donated by Stedmans, Haliburton; Red and White, Haliburton; I.G.A., Haliburton and I.G.A., Minden were used in the Chinese auction and Gwen Cox and Mr. George Tipton were the lucky bidders.

The next meeting will be held June 3, same place, same time.

Adios and take care now.
